Hoover Opens New Attack On Vets' Bill

IT'S JUST BAD LEGISLATION, HE DECLARES

Measure Passed Yesterday by Senate and Sent to Lower House

CITES EVILS OF BILL

"Not More in Interest of Veterans Than of Tax-payers," He Insists

BULLETIN

Detroit — (AP) — American Medical association today came to the support of President Hoover in his opposition to the liberalized World War Veterans Pension bill.

Washington — (AP) — While House Republicans pondered what to do, President Hoover today called the World War veterans relief bill "just bad legislation."

The bill, approved 66 to 6 by the senate yesterday, was being returned to the house while the president denounced it to newspaper correspondents standing in his office. A caucus of Republican representatives was called for tonight, at which an effort will be made to offer a substitute measure.

"I do not believe the country will support this bill," said Mr. Hoover.

The next of the president's remarks was:

"In this problem we are dealing with sick and disabled veterans. Except for some marginal cases the government has long since generous provisions for the men whose disabilities arise from the war itself. These cases before us, except for a comparatively small number of marginal ones, are in reality men disabled from incidents of civil life since the war.

"The whole matter is one that must be approached in a high sense of justice and utmost sympathy. But this veterans bill is just bad legislation. It is not more in the interest of veterans than in the interest of the taxpayer. The financial burdens, the amount of which has again been reaffirmed by General Hines, and they were even increased by senate amendments yesterday, do constitute a serious embarrassment to the government and to the country, but there are other objections even more serious.

"This bill selects a particular group of 75,000 to 100,000 men and makes provision for them in the most wasteful and entirely inconceivable and entirely neglects the equal rights to help of over 20,000 more veterans who are likewise suffering from disabilities incurred in civil life since the war.

BASIS IS UNSOUND

"Furthermore, the very basis of the bill, sets up an untruthful and, according to our physicians, a physically impossible 'presumption' and justifies its action upon this. For instance a man who has served a few days in the army in his home town or in camps and afterwards enjoyed seven or twelve years of good health, then after that time incurs any affliction, is thereby declared to have a disability due to the war and is to be compensated or pensioned on the same basis as the man who suffered in the trenches and from actual battle. It contains many other discriminations and injustices.

"These things violate not only the fact but the very integrity of government. It is a sad thing for our government to set standards of subterfuge to our people. It is unfair to all other veterans who have been disabled in civil life.

"It is unfair to the whole spirit of the World War veterans.

"There are emergency and marginal cases which I have insisted should be cared for and which will be cared for and there is the additional necessity for us to study the broader subject exhaustively before we plunge.

DRY BUREAU HEADED BY MARYLAND MAN

Amos W. W. Woodcock Prepares to Assume Duties Early Next Month

Washington — (AP) — Preparing to take over the prohibition bureau of the treasury at the end of the month, the justice department has selected Amos W. W. Woodcock of Salisbury, Md., for the task.

As federal district attorney for his state and more recently as an aide to the Hoover Law Enforcement commission in its prohibition studies, he has acquired an experience which, the department says makes him well equipped for his new post. He is 42 years of age and has been practicing law since 1914.

Citing his experience, the department said it "qualifies him to perform the important function of coordinating the duties of prosecution and to work toward more effective cooperation on the part of state local governments in the enforcement of liquor laws."

In his new position, Woodcock will have the title of director of prohibition.

Sanhuber To Take Stand At His Trial

Attorney Promises Defendant Will Give New Version of Slaying

Los Angeles — (AP) — A new story from the lips of Otto Sanhuber, "Attic man," regarding the slaying here eight years ago of Fred Osterreich, manufacturer, was promised by defense attorneys today as they began their attempt to clear their client of the killing, to which he previously had confessed.

Earl Wakeman, defense attorney, announced the first move in the fight for acquittal would be an effort to strike from the records the transcript of a confession which Sanhuber made to the grand jury. The prosecution yesterday rested its case, after entering in evidence the Sanhuber statement.

Otto will testify in his own defense," Wakeman said. "He will tell the real story of the murder—entirely different from that already told."

For a decade prior to the night of Aug. 22, 1922, when Osterreich was slain, Sanhuber's statement said he had lived in secret garret compartments in various Osterreich homes in Milwaukee, Wis., and Los Angeles. His hat-like existence, he said, was endured "so he could be near Mrs. Osterreich, whom he loved."

On the night of the murder, Sanhuber said he had been chasing imaginary burglars about the house with two guns he had purchased to "be like a cowboy." Shortly before midnight Mr. and Mrs. Osterreich came home. Sanhuber said Osterreich had been drinking, and began a violent quarrel with his wife.

The attic man's story then said he heard Mrs. Osterreich scream and "a noise like a slap and a bump like a body falling."

"I grabbed my guns and rushed from my room," Sanhuber said. "The first thing I knew, I was down there."

"What are you doing here?" Osterreich demanded.

"He lunged at me," Sanhuber continued. "The gun went off. I ran for the front door, trying to get away. He hit me an awful blow. I was trying to get away from his powerful hands. Then the gun went off, up close. I was in convulsions. He relaxed and fell down—just slipped through my arms."

52 SLAIN IN PRISON CLASH AT RANGOON

Mutiny Results When Rebels Denounce Simon Report on India

Rangoon, Burma, India — (AP) — At least 52 persons were killed and 71 wounded in a mutiny in the central jail here this afternoon after malcontents had denounced the Simon report.

Several hundred prisoners were returning from the workshops to the main hall for their meal when they suddenly rushed the sentries guarding the inner gates.

They slaughtered six of the warders and seized their rifles. The mutineers then fought their way to an outer gate where they were halted by half a dozen determined guards.

The outer guards held several hundred desperate convicts at bay; two military police; one police who surrounded the prison.

Two hours of hand to hand fighting between the convicts and the military police ensued.

The casualties, as made known soon after the fighting subsided included killed two sentries and 11 guards; two military police; one truck driver; 40 convicts. The injured were 11 guards, 60 convicts.

After the convicts had secured the weapons of the inner warders they raided the prison armory, all equipped themselves with arms and ammunition. They then retraced their steps to the workshops.

Taking cover wherever they found it, the workshop and without its walls, the convicts kept up the battle with the forces of the law until after their ammunition was exhausted. They then surrendered.

RIVERS-HARBORS BILL GOES TO CONFERENCE

Washington — (AP) — The house today declined to concur in the senate amendments to the $138,141,502 rivers and harbors omnibus bill and sent it to conference to compose differences between the two branches.

Chairman Dempsey of the rivers and harbors committee asked for the conference. He predicted the differences, involving projects costing $27,606,875, would be agreed upon and that the bill would be enacted this week.

Speaker Longworth named Dempsey of New York, Strong of Pennsylvania, Republicans, and Mansfield, Democrat of Texas, as the House conferees.

TARIFF BILL BRINGS BOOST IN REVENUES

Washington — (AP) — Whatever else the new tariff bill does or fails to do for the country, it already has added a temporary increase in revenues of $24,000,000.

The estimate was made possible when the treasury department in its regular daily statement of government receipts for the close of business June 20 reported June incomes from duties of $59,000,000 which compared with $35,000,000 in the same month last year.

"Virtually all the increase in the customs is attributed to the usual minute rush of importers to get shipments into the United States before the law become effective,

YANK PLAYERS WIN TENNIS VICTORIES

Big Bill Tilden and Helen Moody Lead American Contingent

Wimbledon, Eng. — (AP) — Led by the two top-ranking stars of American tennis, Helen Willis Moody and Big Bill Tilden, the big contingent from the United States scored a succession of sweeping victories today in the classic Wimbledon championships of the All-England club.

Seven Americans in the men's singles triumphed without the loss of a set, giving an impressive exhibition featured by George Lott's victory over the British veteran, Charles H. Kingsley, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4, and Gergory Mangin's elimination of another English star, O. S. N. Turnbull at 6-2, 7-5, 6-0.

Mrs. Moody's opening victory, in her fourth title quest, was scored easily over Pauline Krahwinkel of Germany, 6-2, 6-1, while Tilden's second victory was gained over E. O. Mathis, a Texas player now a Rhodes scholar at Oxford.

WOMAN PROSECUTES HER "FAKE" HUSBAND

Havana — (AP) — Miss Shirley Barton of Bayonne, N. J., who discovered after a three day honeymoon with the wealthy Dr. Nunez Carrion of Santiago de Cuba, that her marriage with him was a fake, will remain in Cuba and prosecute the Cuban physician, it was learned today. She has retained a prominent American Cuban attorney.

She had said she would go home yesterday, but later changed her mind on the advice of the American consul general. Meanwhile Dr. Nunez Carrion had been arrested on statutory charges filed by her.

Miss Barton, who is a buyer of ladies' ready to wear, arrived in Havana Tuesday, met Dr. Carrion, and Wednesday night went through an alleged "fake" wedding with him after a round of the cabarets.

ENDURANCE PLANE UP MORE THAN 302 HOURS

Chicago — (AP) — At 6:40 a. m. (C. D. T.) today, Kenneth and John Hunter, piloting the refueling endurance plane "City of Chicago," had been aloft 302 hours in their attempt to break the world record of 341 hours plus held by the "St. Louis Robin." It was the thirteenth day in the trip.

At the 300-hour mark, 109 refueling contacts with the ground crew had been made. To escape the blistering heat, the fliers yesterday and last night hovered around an altitude of 3,000 feet.

INVESTIGATE VALUES OF BYLLESBY STOCKS

Madison — (AP) — An investigation into the actual value of the public utility stocks represented in the stock of the J. B. Byllesby Co., Wisconsin, will be begun by the state railroad commission, Thursday. The investigation will be made in connection with the company's application for permission to sell more of its common class A and B securities in the state.

The railroad commission will also delve into whether the basis of earnings necessary to pay dividends on the stock is being founded on earnings subject to revision because of a high valuation on the properties.

BYRD GOES TO NEW YORK TO BE AWARDED MEDAL

New York — (AP) — Rear Admiral Richard Byrd left aboard the destroyer Rainbridge at 5:25 A. M. (E.S.T.) today for Albany where he will be presented with the state's distinguished service medal by Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt. The destroyer was announced, would stop at Poughkeepsie, and arrive at Albany at 3:30 p. m.

Accompanying Admiral Byrd were Mrs. Byrd, his mother, Mrs. Eleanor Byrd, his brother, Thomas Byrd, and Paul Siple, the boy scout member of the Byrd Antarctic expedition. A number of newspapermen also were members of the party.

Rail Shares Crash Under Attack By Bear Traders

Weakness of Wheat Market Makes Stocks Vulnerable in Day's Trade

New York — (AP) — A bear drive against the rail stocks depressed the general level of these shares close to the resistance points of last November on the stock exchange today, several individual issues breaking through the bottom prices of last year. A long list of important shares from all groups sold off $2 to more than $5.

Before the unsettling downturn of the rails, the market had been dull fluctuating uncertainly. During an interval of short covering in the morning, many important stocks sagged $2 to $3, but practically all of these advances were cancelled by early afternoon. Renewed weakness of the wheat market was disappointing to Wall-st and made stocks vulnerable to bear drives. July wheat dropped more than 2 cents, establishing another new low for the past 16 years, under 90 cents a bushel.

Southern Railway sold off more than $5, reaching the lowest level since 1925. St. Louis-San Francisco dropped nearly as much, recording the lowest point since 1926. Rock Island sagged more than $3, getting back to the levels of 1927. New York Central, New Haven, Missouri Pacific, Reading, and Delaware and Hudson dropped about $2 to $4 to new low levels for the year. Atchafalpa sold up $1 in the early trading, only to drop more than $10 from the top. Sears Roebuck dropped $5 to the lowest price since 1927. U. S. Steel, American Telephone, General Electric, Westinghouse Electric, Western Union, Consolidated Gas, American Can, A. M. Byers, and Warner Bros. sold off from $2 to more than $3.

WHEAT AT NEW LOWS

Chicago — (AP) — Wheat harvest and collapse of prices gathered momentum today and once again new low records were set in the futures market here. July wheat dropped to 84 cents a bushel, only a quarter cent above the June, 1914, high price and the close today was at the bottom of the session, showing losses of 3 1/2 to 4 cents a bushel from Monday's finish.

Wheat futures closed as follows: July 84 1/2 to 85 cents; September 91 1/2 to 92 cents; 1931 to 97 1/2.

Rye, too, established new minimum records for the year and corn and oats were only a fraction above their lowest levels.

It was the fourth successive day that wheat had fallen to a new low point, breaking every record for 16 years. European buyers still held aloof and although selling did not seem heavy there was little interest on the part of buyers. Rains in Canada and the fast northward movement of the winter wheat harvest now sweeping across Nebraska, helped undermine values.

TURK BORN IN 1774 READY TO PAY VISIT TO UNITED STATES

Istanbul, Turkey — (AP) — A Turkish passport stating that the owner's birth year is 1774 and stamped with a six months' United States visa will carry toward New York this week Zaro Agha, who claims he is the oldest man in the world.

He has traveled in bygone centuries, he declares, fought with Napoleon in Egypt and in Greece during the war of 1825. Now Zaro Agha has selected America for a twentieth century Odyssey because as a fervid Moslem recitator he wants to pay his respects to the land where, as the Koran bids, wine is held wicked, his own country having been backslid in this respect.

Zaro says America will be sure to appreciate the man who has been dry for 156 years. He hopes to get into the movies.

"Dozens of Americans have written me to come," he said in Kurdish today. "A rich American lady who owns eight battleships and four yachts has invited me to visit her. She sent me a dollar. I may decide to marry her."

Zaro made his observation in the presence of his eleventh Kurdish wife, whom he is leaving behind. She listened placidly. Zaro refused to divulge the possible twelfth Mrs. Zaro's name.

MALTESE CONSTITUTION IS SHELVED BY GREAT BRITAIN

London — (AP) — The British government has decided to suspend the Maltese constitution temporarily in view of a tense political situation in the island arising from a prolonged dispute with the Vatican.

The necessary legislation to give effect to the suspension will be submitted to his majesty in council as an emergency measure forthwith.

The prime minister explained that the urgency of the situation in Malta was brought out fully in the recent Blue Book, giving full information regarding the intervention of the Vatican in the temporal affairs of the island. The position created by this intervention has, in the opinion of the government, made it undesirable for the time being to hold the general election now due.

The prime minister said full legislative and executive authority would remain in the hands of the government.

THE EXISTING MINISTRY, THE PREMISES, WILL REMAIN IN OFFICE AND WILL BE AVAILABLE IN A CONSULTATIVE CAPACITY IF THE GOVERNMENT WISHES TO MAKE USE OF THEIR SERVICES.

The Maltese political situation has been owing for a year and a half to a conflict between church and state.

When church authorities ordered the transfer to Italy of a Maltese monk who was a British subject, Lord Strickland, the prime minister, ruled that foreigners could not remove a British subject from British territory against his will.

Lord Strickland himself is a Catholic but he implied that Maltese churchmen were interfering in temporal affairs. The churchmen answered by forbidding their congregation to look at a photograph of the king.

RECEIPTS GAIN BUT SURPLUS SHOWS SLUMP

Treasury Collects 142 Million More Than in Same Period Last Year

Washington — (AP) — The treasury's surplus for the 1930 fiscal year reached $223,020,522 last Saturday, as disclosed today. The government income then aggregated $1,106,318,114 while its total expenditures for the year were $883,297,592. The receipts were $112,000,000 more than in the same period last year but the surplus was $11,000,000 less.

While the surplus exceeded $223,000,000 last Saturday, it may not be so great on June 30 as expenditures in the last week may reduce it. A plus was $237,000,000 while at the end of the year the surplus was $186,000,000.

Expenditures for the present year have exceeded expenditures for the same period of the 1929 fiscal year by $157,000,000.

Income tax receipts for the present month have amounted to $47,000,000, bringing the total for the year to $2,381,607,020, an increase of $53,000,000 as compared to the same period of the previous year.

"Custom receipts," which have shown a slump within the last ten days, now total for the year $376,632,211, a decrease of $15,000,000 as compared with last year.

Heat Claims 12 Victims In Chicago

North Winds Bring Milder Weather to Middle Western Territory

Chicago — (AP) — Mrs. Zenobia Seldel, 57, who was overcome by the heat yesterday, died early today in a hospital here.

Chicago — (AP) — Terrible heat, setting a new season's record at 97 degrees, caused 12 deaths in Chicago yesterday and released during the night with the coming of gentle north winds.

Dawn today found the temperature at a comfortable 76 degrees and steadily dropping. At 9 o'clock a. m. the temperature was 70.

Chicago's intense heat yesterday was not the worst in the middle west. Centerville, Ill., reported pavement buckling under a temperature of 106 degrees. Peoria, Ill., and St. Louis, Mo., each sweltered under a temperature of 100.

Among the Chicago deaths, one man succumbed to sunstroke; another, overcome by the heat fell from a scaffold. There were drownings and deaths by heart attack which physicians ascribed to the blistering heat.

The high temperature readings were general over the entire corn belt and even up into the summer resort territories of Wisconsin and Michigan. One had to go as far north as Minnesota and the Dakotas and upper Michigan to avoid getting into the torrid maelstrom.

Chicago had its miles of lake shore as a haven from the heat and the beach swarmed with people well into the night. The parks became camping grounds for entire families, and the stiffening of sulfur apparatus, even threatening slides behind electrical stations failed to deter them.

FAMOUS ACTOR DIES IN MASSACHUSETTS

Henry Jewett, 68, Succumbs — Associated With Noted Stage Figures

West Newton, Mass. — (AP) — Henry Jewett, actor, died at his home "The Branches" today. He was 68 years old.

Born in Australia in 1862, he spent his early years in that country and New Zealand and before he was 20 years old had played throughout Australia.

His first appearance in the United States was in San Francisco in 1892 and the following season he became a leading man for Julia Marlowe.

During the season 1915-16, he was with Richard Mansfield, playing in repertoire with him until 1927 and joining the company which was headed by Fanny Davenport the following year.

In succeeding years he played under the management of George Tyler and Charles Frohman, acting with Miss Ada Rehan and Miss Viola Allen.

A three months Shakespearian season in this city by the Henry Jewett players of Boston, which he organized, marked his entrance to Boston theatrical circles and in a short time he opened the Copley theatre. He managed the theatre for eight years, producing 141 classic plays and comedies.

With the founding of the Repertory theatre, he merged his own interests with the new organization, Theatrical Fund, Inc. He became director, taking roles in plays himself and in 1927 the event of four hundred weeks of repertory under his direction was celebrated.

He is survived by his widow, Frances H. Jewett.

TAX SUIT IS TAKEN UNDER ADVISEMENT

After hearing testimony in the suit brought by the Fox Valley Canning company against the village of Hortonville, in circuit court here yesterday, Judge A. P. Murphy Marquette, took the case under advisement pending arguments by attorneys for both sides. Judge Murphy was called to sit in the case by Judge Edgar V. Werner, who had presided in a previous action between the two parties.

The canning company seeks to recover approximately $585, which it alleges it paid the village in illegal taxes. The taxes were paid on an assessed valuation by the village board. The case was taken to court and Judge Werner ruled the increase was illegal. The supreme court upheld this decision. The village refuses to refund the illegal taxes on the ground that the company did not pay them under protest. The canning company contends it did pay the taxes under protest.

FOUR AIRMEN OVER HALFWAY ACROSS OCEAN

Penetrate Fog After Flying Through It for More Than an Hour

SHIPS REPORT FLIGHT

Plane Speeding at 100 Miles an Hour, Radio Messages State

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Southern Cross, America's first plane, with her crew of four intrepid fliers, this afternoon emerged from a fog through which she had flown for more than an hour.

The adventurers had completed half of their over water jump to the North American mainland.

Her nose was pointed straight for Newfoundland, where Captain Kingsford-Smith and his mates hoped to sight land.

The airplane had been making 100 miles an hour according to her radio messages, and steamships and ships, she evidently passed out of sight, as is shown with Baldhead, Ireland, at about midday. She picked up the S. S. Valentia at 5:40 a. m. (E.S.T.) and the S. S. Inezma at 10 o'clock a. m. E. S. T. Weather conditions were reported good.

The fliers were in excellent spirits and optimistic of their success.

PREPARE TO REVEAL

Portland Airport, Scarborough, Me. — (AP) — Preparations for possible revealing of the Southern Cross, now on its way across the Atlantic, were being made today with the arrival at noon of a refueling plane from Valby, Norway.

The plane, piloted by Harold G. G. and crewed by four men, stopped at Boston en route to New York.

Baldhead Airmen, Irish Free State — (AP) — As described as cricketers, the crew of the famous airplane Southern Cross today were racing across the north Atlantic with their radio leading up a spirited stream of messages and their propellers cutting up the miles between Ireland and New York.

At 10:30 p. m. British summer time 6:30 a. m. (Appleton time) the trimotored plane which already has a triumphal crossing of the wide Pacific to its credit, was 800 miles out of its starting point and was rapidly approaching the halfway mark on the over water lap between the coast of Ireland and Cape Race, Newfoundland.

The plane had averaged a little more than 88 miles an hour since its departure from Port Marnock at 4:27 a. m. (E.S.T.) p. m. Monday Appleton time and had increased its speed up to 165 miles an hour as her heavy load of gasoline grew lighter.

The four men aboard, Captain Charles Kingsford Smith, J. W. Stannard, radio operator, M. E. Van Dyke, assistant pilot, and Captain J. T. Smith, navigator, were in gay spirits as was indicated by their many messages picked up in Baldhead and London as well as by ships at sea.

The sky was slightly overcast, but the ocean was calm and conditions seemed favorable for a fast hop across the north Atlantic which already has taken so heavy a toll of brave airmen and several women who sought to make the westward crossing.

Underwritten by these tragedies of recent years, Captain Kingsford Smith flooded the air with cheerful messages.

"Slightly overcast," said a message picked up in London at 1:15 p. m. "Ocean like mill pond. Traveling 100 miles an hour. If conditions were like this always, ocean flying would be easy."

WEATHER IS COLD

It was cold, high up there over the Atlantic, but the fliers were dressed for it and their messages showed no loss of zest for their great adventure.

"Shooting suns and things," said one message received shortly after 10 o'clock. "Gee, ice cold outside. I bet Van and Smith are feeling it. We are all wrapped up like polar explorers but it is still pretty nippy."

The Southern Cross left the Irish coast at 5:15 a. m. G. M. T. (11:35 a. m. Appleton time) and then sped westward over the great crevice of the Atlantic toward Cape Race, the southeasterly tip of Newfoundland. It is approximately 1,800 miles between the coast of Ireland and Newfoundland.

Only once before has this stretch of turbulent water been crossed successfully in a westerly direction. That was by the monoplane Bremen, piloted by Col. James Fitzmaurice, an Irishman, and two Germans, Captain Hermann Koeh and the late Baron von Huenefeld. Even they fell short of their goal, landing at Greenly Island, a lonely spot on the coast of Labrador, where they remained for days before they could be brought southward.

GODFREY LOSES BOXING LICENSE

Pennsylvania Commission Hands Negro Permanent Suspension

Philadelphia — (AP) — George Godfrey, the giant Negro, who last night fouled Primo Carnera, the smiling Alp, in the fifth round, today lost his license as a boxer.

In addition to revoking his license permanently, the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission allowed him only $5,000 for the bout. He was to have received $10,000 for the ten rounds, but under the commission's rule this was cut to the pro rata basis of the number of rounds he fought.

The commission withdrew from Godfrey the status as a heavyweight contender. It having ruled some time ago that a heavyweight world's champion would not be recognized in Pennsylvania until the giant Negro had been eliminated by a battle in the ring.

MANY HURT IN SEVILLE GENERAL STRIKE RIOTS

Seville — (AP) — Several persons were gravely injured and about 100 suffered minor hurts in the rioting on the streets of Seville today as an outgrowth of a general strike.

More than 150 persons were injured in disorders yesterday and the fighting was resumed today as the strikers again began demonstrations. Among those injured in today's disorders was a child who was reported to be dying.

Martial law was in effect. Cafes and business houses were closed, inhabitants of the city were mostly indoors and the streets were deserted except where the strikers were congregating.

Portland Airport, Scarborough, Me. — (AP) — Preparations for possible revealing of the Southern Cross, now on its way across the Atlantic, were being made today with the arrival at noon of a refueling plane from Valby, Norway.

The plane, piloted by Harold G. G. and crewed by four men, stopped at Boston en route to New York.

Baldhead Airmen, Irish Free State — (AP) — As described as cricketers, the crew of the famous airplane Southern Cross today were racing across the north Atlantic with their radio leading up a spirited stream of messages and their propellers cutting up the miles between Ireland and New York.

At 10:30 p. m. British summer time 6:30 a. m. (Appleton time) the trimotored plane which already has a triumphal crossing of the wide Pacific to its credit, was 800 miles out of its starting point and was rapidly approaching the halfway mark on the over water lap between the coast of Ireland and Cape Race, Newfoundland.

The plane had averaged a little more than 88 miles an hour since its departure from Port Marnock at 4:27 a. m. (E.S.T.) p. m. Monday Appleton time and had increased its speed up to 165 miles an hour as her heavy load of gasoline grew lighter.

The four men aboard, Captain Charles Kingsford Smith, J. W. Stannard, radio operator, M. E. Van Dyke, assistant pilot, and Captain J. T. Smith, navigator, were in gay spirits as was indicated by their many messages picked up in Baldhead and London as well as by ships at sea.

The sky was slightly overcast, but the ocean was calm and conditions seemed favorable for a fast hop across the north Atlantic which already has taken so heavy a toll of brave airmen and several women who sought to make the westward crossing.

Underwritten by these tragedies of recent years, Captain Kingsford Smith flooded the air with cheerful messages.

"Slightly overcast," said a message picked up in London at 1:15 p. m. "Ocean like mill pond. Traveling 100 miles an hour. If conditions were like this always, ocean flying would be easy."

WEATHER IS COLD

It was cold, high up there over the Atlantic, but the fliers were dressed for it and their messages showed no loss of zest for their great adventure.

"Shooting suns and things," said one message received shortly after 10 o'clock. "Gee, ice cold outside. I bet Van and Smith are feeling it. We are all wrapped up like polar explorers but it is still pretty nippy."

The Southern Cross left the Irish coast at 5:15 a. m. G. M. T. (11:35 a. m. Appleton time) and then sped westward over the great crevice of the Atlantic toward Cape Race, the southeasterly tip of Newfoundland. It is approximately 1,800 miles between the coast of Ireland and Newfoundland.

Only once before has this stretch of turbulent water been crossed successfully in a

Simon Group Offers Its Solution Of Indian Problem

NO DEMANDS MET, NATIVE LEADERS SAY

Ignore Report Officially but Give Close Attention to Details

London—(AP)—An All-India federation, composed of both the states of the Indian princes and the provinces, was recommended today to the Simon commission as a possible solution of problems presented by Britain's Asiatic empire.

The union would be contained in the federation would be contained in the recommendations, be self-governing and autonomous in a constantly progressing degree, according to their various capacities. The central or federation government would be responsible to the British crown.

"While we are prepared to recommend a considerable advance toward self-government, and while we believe that a sense of responsibility can only be taught by making men responsible for the effects of their own actions, we desire to secure that experience is not bought too dearly," the report says.

"There must be in India a power which can step in and save the situation before it is too late. There must be provided as far as may be, safeguards to insure maintenance of vital services."

The recommendations, which are embodied in the report of a parliamentary commission of seven, headed by Sir John Simon, will be the basis of conversations in the projected round table conference to be held in October in London on Indian affairs.

The recommendations received a generally agreeable welcome in preliminary comments of the British press this morning.

The commissioners make clear that recommendations include end of the dyarchy, the name given to the system of British rule.

Other recommendations of the commissioners are:

Separation of Burma and India, with Burma responsible to London rather than to Delhi.

That the London government continue to support the military in India regarding defense of the north-west frontier as an empire rather than Indian problem.

Increase of those holding the franchise from about 23 per cent to about 10 per cent of the population.

Bombay—(AP)—Leaders of the civil disobedience campaign, by which Indian Nationalists are striving to gain independence declared today that the recommendations of the Simon commission on statutory and constitutional reform would suffer their movement. They consider that it meets none of the Swarajist, or home rule, demands.

As part of their boycott of the Simon commission from its inception Nationalist leaders officially ignored the report, but actually they considered its recommendations in the most minute details. Even the Mahatma Gandhi, in prison, at Poona was presented with a copy of the recommendations by the government, according to newspaper accounts.

As part of the plan to ignore the Simon commission the leaders said that there would be no processions of protest nor mass meetings anywhere, but that there would be a gradual increase in the Swarajist, or Nationalist resistance movement, in all centers where passive resistance is now being carried on.

EXPECTED NOTHING

"We are not in the least disappointed as we never expected anything in our favor," V. J. Patel, former speaker of the Indian legislative assembly, who resigned at the beginning of the civil resistance movement, said to the Associated Press.

"We expected a long fight in the first place," he said, "and it is now clear that we will struggle for months, perhaps for years." And then with a smile, "Of course I am supposed to ignore the recommendations but as a matter of fact I have been poring over the details for the last two hours."

"There is absolutely nothing in them which would start to satisfy most Indians, no matter to what party they belong. Our boycott of the Simon commission is now fully vindicated. No member of the All-India National Congress will care to consider the recommendations for a moment. There is no suggestion of an immediate grant of freedom anywhere."

BRITISH PRESS SATISFIED

London—(AP)—The British press as a whole received the report of the Simon commission on Indian statutory reform favorably, although commenting that the recommendations called for close study.

The Times remarked that the recommendations probably would be profoundly altered by the time they have gone through the round-table conference, joint committee of both houses of parliament, and parliamentary debate. The paper got a "broad impression that the committee's conclusions fit the facts with unanswerable logic and furnish a scheme of self-government fitted to the special conditions of the case and unlimited except by the safeguards against its own collapse."

The report, the Times said, "marks the most hopeful advance of our generation toward solution of the Indian problem."

The Daily Mail, voicing the imperialist view, thought that one of the "strongest arguments in favor of the Simon commission's recommendations is the fact that it is a step toward the solution of the Indian problem."

EPISCOPAL CHURCH GREETES NEW RECTOR

The Rev Lyle Douglas Utts Urges Church Assume Place in Community

A large congregation greeted the Rev. Lyle Douglas Utts on Sunday morning as he officially opened his ministry as rector of All Saints parish. Mr. Utts' sermon which was placed emphasis on the three crosses taken from the cross of St. Luke, and their outstanding relationships in the average community. Rev. Utts concluded his sermon with the plea that the church assume its place in the life and work of the community to better enable the church to reach its consummate perfection in the building of the kingdom of God.

At the close of the service Mrs. Utts and the three Utts children, Geraldine, John and Richard, were presented to the congregation.

RADIO COMPANY HAS HARD TIME PAYING ITS WAY

Company Given Lions Share of Air Channels Finds Going Hard

BY ROBERT MACK

Copyright 1930 by Cons. Press

Washington—Word has reached Washington that the Universal Wireless Communication Co., Inc., authorized by federal mandate to create the first nationwide radio-telegraph message system, is engaged in a struggle for existence.

A petition for involuntary bankruptcy has been filed by creditors of Universal in the district court at Chicago. Employees of the company in some cases it is said, are planning to sue for back pay, while operations of the first segment of the projected national network which began early this year are declared to be virtually at a standstill.

Universal was allocated 40 of the very limited number of continental short wave channels with which to set into operation a radio-telegraph network for the public in competition with the established wire lines. It was accorded these facilities in December, 1928, after a contest with Radio Corporation of America, Mackay Radio Telegraph company and several independent companies which also sought sufficient channels with which to maintain national service.

Even now the entire allocation of these frequencies by the federal Radio commission is entangled in litigation before the Court of Appeals here.

NO COURT ACTION

According to the information received in official radio circles here, the Duldiner Condenser company, of New York City, has entered suit against Universal for $10,000 alleged to be due it for transmitting condensers. The Chicago court has not yet entertained the motion that a receiver for the company be appointed.

Universal already has spent in excess of $2,000,000 in this pioneering venture. It was created in 1923 with the financial support of interests in Buffalo, N. Y. Dr. John Nathansohn, of Buffalo, has been the moving spirit of the company, which claimed the ownership of exclusive radio patents which permitted of five-way operation on a channel ordinarily used for only one communication contact. It was because the company proved to the satisfaction of the commission that it could provide a network of stations, linking 100 cities, with only 40 of the valuable channels, that the grant was made to it.

110 CITY CHAIN

Under the commission's grant, Universal must have in operation its entire program of 110 cities linked by radio by the end of next year. The allocation to the company, however, was under terms so rigid that for the slightest slip in this program the entire grant may be annulled.

Just a few months ago the Radio Corporation of America and certain of its associated companies filed suits for patent infringement against Universal, alleging violation of five of its basic patents. Universal had in actual operation up to a short time ago a dozen of its stations which were accepting commercial traffic according to reports it submitted to the commission.

MAGAZINE SALESMEN POSE AS H. S. GRADS

Chamber of commerce officials today issued a warning to Appleton people that one or more young men soliciting magazine subscriptions here are giving fictitious information about themselves and giving fictitious addresses. It is said they are representing themselves as graduates of Appleton high school and that they are selling magazines as a means of paying their way through college. It is said that none of the names that have been given are found on the roster of high school graduates and that they do not live or stay at the addresses they give.

that "it will virtually eliminate the mischievous cry for dominion status." The paper declared that the report shows the immense risk of setting up anything like home rule in India.

The News and Chronicle, which takes the British Liberal view said "the proposals bring within sight an All-India constitution of the only kind suited to that vast country and should be the beginning of the last phase of India's political development."

The only pronounced adverse view taken by the Laborite Daily Herald; it granted many of the commission's judgments as right but says that the report as a whole tends toward indefinite stabilizing of the present system.

RUN OF HARD LUCK HITS CAPONE; SEE HIM LOSING GRIP

Believe King Will Lose His Throne if "Bad Breaks" Continue

BY OWEN L. SCOTT

Copyright, 1930, By Cons. Press

Chicago—(CPA)—A few more jolts of the kind now being administered and Alphonse Capone may be the underdog cardman he has built during the past six years, crumple at his feet.

Financial troubles already are besetting this ruler of the hoodlums. Dividends promise to be scant on the present year's business. At the same time competition of the most deadly sort of pressing on all local fronts.

Yet Capone has not been willing to leave his Florida retreat to direct the fight. He may fear the fate that the Alie-Moran clan has been meeting out to some of its local representatives. Or he may merely be living up to an agreement with the police that he will stay away from Chicago.

At any rate, the dream "Scarface Al" had of leaving prison, of a vast syndicate dealing in every sort of organized crime, with emphasis on racketeering, seems to have been blasted by the course of recent events.

His first setback came when local newspapers exposed the intricate plans he had for capturing some key labor unions in a drive for political bargaining power, and for revenue.

$700,000 LOSS

The next came when the Supreme Court of Illinois ruled that the legal system of the state's attorney, investigating for the state's attorney this cut $700,000 a year from the Capone treasury.

That decision was followed quickly by the federal government's conviction of Ralph Capone, brother of Al, on the ground of fraud in his income tax statement. He had failed to report hundreds of thousands of dollars in revenue. Ralph was in charge of all the Capone interests in Cicero. He now faces three years in prison.

On top of that the federal government knocked off the Capone brewery supplying beer to the top speakeasies, confiscating expensive equipment besides 90,000 gallons of brew. It followed with raids on 12 Capone distilleries in Cicero, destroying $250,000 worth of equipment and thousands of dollars worth of alcohol. These raids shut off alcohol production of about $900,000 a week.

As if that weren't trouble enough, the Alie brothers, seven of them, allied with George (Bugs) Moran, have all the best of the killing business. They have eliminated six or eight Capone men in quick order, and according to evidence in the hands of police, were responsible for the slaying of Alfred Lingle, Chicago Tribune reporter. The fact that the suspected slayer had been on the payroll of a city department is taken to indicate that Capone may have been losing his political hold as well as his financial grip.

NOT MUCH SURPLUS

"Scarface Al" is not believed to have built up a large capital surplus account. He always was a prodigal spender and admits having run through $7,500,000 in about three years of high living. He is supposed to have dropped $1,500,000 on horses and dice in two years.

"These hoodlums are too short-sighted to see that they have been killing their own game by application of a murder policy," said Dr. Roche today. "They have aroused the public, just as they did with the Valentine Day massacre, and just as then, they pay financially. Now their revenue is cut off just when bad business conditions caused a severe slump in the liquor and gambling end of their affairs."

When the present hubbaloob blows over, unless the electric chair gets some of them, it is not at all improbable to expect that the Alieellos will have replaced the Capones as underworld lords.

Badger Lawmakers Start For Summer Vacations

BY DOROTHEA J. LEWIS

(Post-Crescent Washington Society Editor.)

Washington—The homeward trek Wisconsin is rapidly succoring to the Badger state's congressional delegation. "Senator and Mrs. John J. Blaine, who had planned to motor home to Boscebel the end of last week, have been delayed in Washington by senatorial work. Their plans now are indefinite. Their daughter, Mrs. Don Faris of Madison, and granddaughter, 8-year old Rosemary, who have been visiting them in Washington, left the National Capital Sunday for Madison."

Rep. and Mrs. Henry Allen Cooper of Racine left Washington Tuesday, and Rep. and Mrs. Edward E. Brown of Waupaca planned to leave the first of this week. Rep. Hubert H. Peavey of Washburn and Rep. and Mrs. John M. Nelson of Madison had previously returned to their homes.

Rep. Cooper who left a little early to keep a speaking engagement at the meeting of the old Settlers at Union Grove on June 19, may return to the National Capital.

The Brownes plan to spend the summer at their home at Chain O' Lakes near Waupaca. On their drive to Wisconsin they will visit Mrs. Marcus Hobart, their daughter, in Evanston, Ill.

This National Capital exodus includes, of course, unofficial Washington. Colonel and Mrs. P. M. Anderson, formerly of Madison and Augusta, Wis., will leave for their summer home on Chesapeake Bay, Monday, and will spend most of the vacation season there, with frequent short trips back to Washington.

The first of these quick returns is planned for Wednesday when they will attend a dinner given at the Chevy Chase club by Mr. and Mrs. Karl Fenning.

Colonel and Mrs. L. M. Horsfall, formerly of Prairie du Chien, left Washington sometime ago for New London, Conn. They plan a Wisconsin visit later in the summer.

Shakespeare's "Tempest" in the shadow of the Washington monument. That is the treat the Washington Community Drama Guild offered the National Capital last week, and the National Capital was there to "oh" and "ah" and admire.

Miss Elma Dotter, formerly of Tomahawk, Wis., was a member of the cast.

The production was staged in the lovely outdoor "Sylvan Theatre" of the Federal Government, with the Marine Band playing the brilliant Gilbert and Sullivan music especially for the "tempest." The bright colors of the costumes, the heavy spot and flood lights, stood out vividly against the green foliage of the background, and the Monument in the background was mistily lighted with one faint, outlining searchlight.

Mrs. "Dolly" Gann, sister of the vice president, led the very distinguished groups of patrons and box-holders, with the Commissioners of the District in another box.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen C. Rosebush of Appleton, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. La Vahn Maesch, motored to Washington last week after visiting Mr. Rosebush's alma mater at Alfred, N. Y.

The Rosebushs are old friends of Dr. and Mrs. Delos O. Kinsman, formerly of Appleton, and they visited frequently with Mrs. Kinsman during their few days of sightseeing here. Dr. Kinsman had called for Europe before they arrived.

Douglas Fuller of Madison visited Colonel and Mrs. Anderson Sunday en route to Annapolis where he is now a plebe.

Colonel and Mrs. Anderson were guests Sunday evening at the charming al fresco given by Mr. and Mrs. Victor Evans at their lovely home, and Tuesday they attended the dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Taber of Baltimore at the Congressional Country club.

General Charles P. Summerall, chief of staff of the army, and Mrs. Summerall were hosts at a brilliant dinner Monday evening in honor of Assistant Secretary of War and Mrs. Payne at the Army, Navy and Marine Corps Country club.

Major General Samuel Hof, new chief of ordinance, and formerly of Boscebel, Wis., and Mrs. Hof were included in the distinguished military company at the dinner.

Mrs. Joseph Curtis Ford of Madison who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Bertha Helm of Georgetown, returned to Washington from New York Sunday after a short stay.

One of the most scintillating international dinners that Washington has seen in some time was given in honor of President-elect Julio Prestes of Brazil by the Ambassador of Brazil, S. Gurgel do Amaral, at the Pan American Union on June 14. President Hoover sat at the right of the President-elect at one of the two crescent-shaped tables.

Allan Hoover, son of President Hoover, and Senor Fernando Prestes, son of President-elect Prestes, attended the dinner.

PUBLISHERS NOW IN NEW FIELD OF MASS PRODUCTION

Melodrama Stories Lead With Sex and Sport Stories Close Second

BY LEMUEL F. PARTON

Copyright, 1930, By Cons. Press

New York—(CPA)—The venture of the American publishers into mass production of literature, marked today by the issuance of the first mill run batch of 20 volumes of dollar books by a leading New York publishing house, reveals these astute analysts of the national culture as placing their first bet on good old-fashioned melodrama.

Thirteen of the 20 are crime books; eight are murder books. Production and sales methods change but basic demand remains pretty much the same as in the days of Cain and Abel.

A number of the volumes are "name books," as Broadway would put it, with the prolific Edgar Wallace leading the crime and J. G. Wells the non-crime groups, and it would appear that the production engineers who are now making over the "Temple plan" to sliver their dividends mainly out of these two old reliables—crime and names.

While America stands thirteenth in literary among the nations of the world, it has nevertheless the largest reading public of any nation and a vast untapped field of casual and indifferent readers, who, the publishers believe, may be turned into untrained book addicts by large scale production and high pressure selling.

KEEP OLD TYPES

The publishers, searching for a formula upon which they could base re-financing and heavy commitments stick pretty closely to the old "bloody Dick, the Avenger" stereotype, which the boys used to bootleg and read in the hay loft in the nineties.

The modern crime classics are slicked up considerably, of course, and the finished technique of the mystery tale has been built into them but they don't differ greatly from the "dime novel," which was anathema in one generation and good business in the next.

No doubt the investment bankers are cooking up an alert eye, as they did when the moving picture was still a maverick in the business world. If this new twenty-four-hour shift for the printing press pays out, Edgar Wallace, Ltd. may yet be listed on the stock exchange—although there is nothing limited about Wallace—he writes a book with each hand while he dictates a play.

The publishers used to fudge out a small edition cautiously, when books sold at $2 to $5. Now they will plunge with editions of 12,000 to 20,000, their economics being exactly the same as that of Henry Ford, whose latest conquest seems to have been the book world.

The Author's League seems to have no objections to the new plan, figuring that the larger gross sales may mean a greater return to writers, but some writers believe the benefits will accrue mostly to publisher writers whose names have built-up power and that it will be hard for a new writer to emerge in this welter of wood pulp.

Sex and sport run close to crime in the new issues, and this trilogy tells out a formula which may yet build up a major industry. The hottest opponents of the plan are the proprietors of bookstores who have long felt the competition of chain drug stores and cigar stores handling books. The grass has been short with the bookkeepers for years and they now see themselves taking on sidelines of razor blades, soap, sandwiches and talent power to get an even break with their competitors.

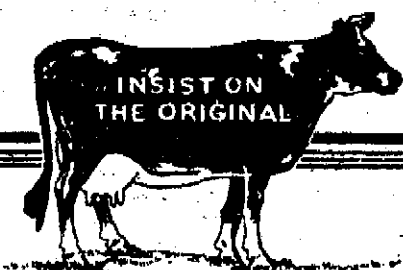

It is interesting to note that the two acres of America's first great break into mass literature are Englishmen—Wells and Wallace.

NORTHWESTERN LINE TAKES OFF 2 TRAINS

Two passenger trains on the Chicago and Northwestern line were discontinued through Appleton Monday, according to W. E. Basing, local agent. The south bound passenger train, which was due here at 12:15 in the afternoon and the north bound train between Chicago and Green Bay, which formerly left here at 10:25 made their last run Monday. The two discontinued trains will continue to operate on Sunday, however, according to Mr. Basing.

BIG PARADE TO BE FEATURE OF JULY 4 PROGRAM

Offer Prizes for Best Floats and Best Teams of Draft Horses

A parade the morning of July 4, which will feature floats, draft horses, members of various riding academies and their mounts and any other groups which may care to join, is being planned by Oney Johnston post of the American legion as part of the Independence day program. Plans for the parade were discussed at a general meeting of veterans and the celebration committee Thursday evening at the city hall.

The veterans decided Thursday evening to offer the prizes for floats and for best teams of draft horses, the purpose being to make the parade as large as possible and to offer opportunities to the greatest number of persons. The veterans themselves will enter an elaborate float in the parade it was said, but the float will not be eligible to win any of the prizes offered.

Horses will feature in much of the program being planned for the afternoon at Erb park. There will be an elaborate horse show on the park grounds during the afternoon, a team pulling contest for owners of draft horses, a high jump contest for jumpers, a saddle showing, driving contest and other features. Walter Koepke has been named chairman of the committee arranging for the show and will handle details.

The veterans are considering numerous old time contests for the youngsters and will award prizes to winners. Among these is a pie eating contest, greased pole climb and the like.

Whether they again will have a greased pig is a question. Charles Spiering, general chairman of the day's celebration, received a letter a few days ago from someone who signed himself "A Citizen" and who deplored the greased pig race on the grounds it is cruelty to animals. The veterans now are wondering whether the inhumanity is to the pig or to the persons who attempt to catch it, especially some of the more or less bowlegged persons.

ASTONISHING IS THIS PROOF OF KONJOLA'S MERIT

Marion Plumber Finds Long Sought for Relief When He Puts Modern Medicine to Test

MR. W. A. LADD
"All my trouble came from a stomach ailment," said Mr. W. A. Ladd, 973 Eleventh street, Marion, Ia. "I became so weak and run down that I could not work regularly and was forced to pass up many a good contract. No matter what I ate I suffered from intense indigestion pains and I often had vomiting spells. Even the lightest food caused a feeling of heaviness and weight. Constipation was another source of misery and nothing I took in the way of medicine helped me.

"Just when the outlook was darkest a friend told me of the wonderful benefit he had derived from Konjola. I decided to give this new medicine a trial. A trial was all that was needed for Konjola went right to work. My first improvement I noticed was when the vomiting spells vanished. My appetite increased and then digestion was restored. My bowels now act normally and I have health that I never expected to have again."

Though Konjola works quickly, six to eight bottles are recommended for a real test.

Konjola is sold in Appleton, Wis., at Schilintz Bros. Drug Store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

BILL FINDS SOAP AND WATER COSTS LESS THAN PAINT

When soap and water does for $15 what paint will do for $65, William Eggert, supervisor of janitors in the public school system, has a right to call it economy. This summer, instead of painting the rooms in four different schools, Mr. Eggert has advised the lavish use of soap and water and the result is startling. The clearing of the walls of four years' accumulation of soot gives the same effect as painting, but on the books of the school system the result is the difference, per room, between $12 and $65.

WOULD ADMIT FLYING BOAT FREE OF DUTY

Washington—(AP)—A resolution to permit the Dornier Do-X, giant German flying boat to enter the United States free of custom duty has been introduced by Representative Johnson, Republican, South Dakota.

A trans-Atlantic flight of the massive plane, which, powered with 12 motors, carried 153 passengers on a flight last year, was proposed some months ago.

Johnson said unless the plane were permitted free entry, it would be assessed approximately $30,000 customs duty.

START CANVASSING CONTRACTORS FOR INDUSTRIAL CENSUS

Bureau Sends Report Blanks to 123 Appleton Construction Men

The Bureau of Census reports that 123 contractors and sub-contractors have been sent report-blanks to fill out in connection with the census of construction industry which is now being taken as part of the census of distribution. Harvey Schilintz, president of the local chamber of commerce announced Monday morning.

The census in its present stages, is limited to those contractors whose gross construction business in 1929 amounted to at least $25,000. President Schilintz stated, and undoubtedly questionnaires were sent to contractors who did not do that much business last year, and some contractors probably were missed; all errors of this sort, however, will be eliminated by the personal canvass now under way.

The bureau also reports that questionnaires were sent to 132 contractors in Outagamie county and to 5,561 in the state, while a total of 175,000 questionnaires were sent out throughout the country.

The construction census canvass was conducted entirely by mail until recently, when, in all cities over 10,000 population, it was turned over to the supervisors and enumerators for completion through personal visits.

Both general and subcontracting work are included in the census. The general work includes such construction as building, highway, bridge and culvert, street paving, sewer, gas, water and conduit, dam and reservoir, waterworks, dredging river and harbor, levees, railroads, foundation power plants, and various other work, while subcontracting includes carpentering, concreting, elec-

"REACH FOR A LUCKY INSTEAD"

Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. Avoid that future shadow* by avoiding over-indulgence, if you would maintain that modern, ever-youthful figure. "Reach for a Lucky instead."

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette you ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco—The Cream of the Crop—"IT'S TOASTED." Lucky Strike has an extra, secret heating process. Everyone knows that heat purifies and so 20,679 physicians say that Luckies are less irritating to your throat.

We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky instead," you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight, and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.

1,500 Coming To Spanish War Veterans Convention

26 GOVERNORS TAKE PART IN PROGRAM HERE

Wisconsin Auxiliary Holds State Meeting at Same Time

Appleton is donning her festive dress and preparing to greet the fifteen hundred men and women expected here Thursday, Friday and Saturday to attend the thirty-first annual campment of the Wisconsin Spanish American War Veterans and the twenty-seventh annual convention of women's state auxiliary. The convention will be climaxed Friday afternoon when two governors will speak at Pierce park. They are Governor Fred W. Green of Michigan, national commander of the veterans, and Governor Walter J. Kohler of Wisconsin.

Albert J. Oberberger, Milwaukee, is department commander of the Wisconsin vets; W. H. Zuehlke, Appleton, is the senior vice commander and most likely the next state commander; E. H. Quistorff, Ashland, is junior vice commander.

Mrs. Rose Ruth Morris, Green Bay, is president of the state auxiliary. Nettie Schwartz, Fond du Lac, is senior vice president; and Etta Bush, Racine, is junior vice president.

Members of the local committee in charge of arrangements are: W. H. Zuehlke, chairman, R. G. Sykes, Laus Jeske, T. F. Thomsen, A. O. Hecht, Henry Stegert, C. B. Peterman, Emil Hoffman, Joseph Hassman and Marcus Stephauser.

OPENS THURSDAY
The convention will open Thursday morning with registration of delegates and visitors at the Conway hotel. The registration will continue all morning and the program will start at 1:45 in the afternoon with the first call at Eagle's hall.

All of the business sessions of the veterans will be conducted at Eagle's hall while the sessions of the auxiliary will be held at the Knights of Pythias hall.

The program will be opened with receptions from the department commander and the auxiliary president. This will be followed by the call to colors and mass singing of America. Albert Nott, department chairman, will offer a prayer and Mayor John Goodland will welcome the conventions to Appleton. Responses will be made by the heads of the groups. Then will follow short talks by representative of the American Legion and of the Grand Army of the Republic. Past president will be introduced and after announcements the joint session will adjourn.

Reports of officers will be heard at the first business session of the war vets, which follows after the joint session adjourns. After an evening program the women's auxiliary will present a flag to the Appleton Boy Scouts. This will be followed by a military drill at Eagle's hall.

CONTINUE SESSIONS
Friday morning the vets and auxiliaries will continue their business sessions in Eagle hall and the Knights of Pythias hall, respectively.

During the noon recess there is to be a reunion of the Second Wisconsin Volunteer Infantry and the Eighth Army corps in the Crystal room at Hotel Conway. After banquet the two groups will hold separate programs. Colonel Hugh T. Pomeroy, Majors Charles Green and T. Byron Devereage are in charge of arrangements for the Volunteer Infantry meeting. There is to be an address by General Charles R. Boardman, Oshkosh, representing the officers; and by J. P. Frank, Appleton, representing the men. C. N. Feldman, Milwaukee, is arranging the program for the Eighth Army corps reunion.

The Eighth Army corps association embraces men from all over the United States who saw service in the Philippines during the Spanish American war. The Wisconsin group has not yet organized and joined the national association and an effort is to be made at this reunion to effect this organization.

Action on by-laws will be taken at the Friday afternoon business session of the veterans. This will be a private affair, however, adjournment being taken about 3 o'clock to prepare for the program at Pierce park.

A big street parade, which is expected to be one of the prettiest ever seen in Appleton, will start at 8:30 from the corner of Drexel and College-ave.

MANY BANDS
The parade will consist of all the delegates to the convention, many uniformed groups from other cities, the 120th Field Artillery band, Appleton high school band, Mendota high school band and the Little Chute band, Eagle's Pipe and Drums corps and the Boy Scouts Pipe and Drums corps, delegations from all the fraternal organizations in the city, delegations from the military organizations in the city, Boy Scouts, mounted police under Chief George T. Prim and many floats.

A special effort is being made to get out at many floats as possible for the convention. Prizes of $25, $10 and $5 are being offered by the veterans for the three best floats appearing in the parade. Special prizes are being made to local business men and manufacturers to enter floats and to help make the parade a success.

The parade will go west on College-ave to Cherry-st, turn south on Cherry-st to Prospect-ave, and west on Prospect-ave to Pierce park where it will end and the climax program of the convention, with the two governors as speakers, will take place in the Pierce park pavilion at 8 o'clock.

Southern Cross Far On Way Across Atlantic

vector over the Pacific, sought today to conquer the Atlantic in the first westward flight from Europe to New York.

Ten thousand spectators witnessed the departure, cheering frantically as the plane left the ground. Ahead of the ship at its departure lay a course of 5,264 miles to New York.

The ammen expected a trip of about 21 hours, which would bring them to New York at about 7:27 a. m. (C. S. T.) Wednesday. The ship's tanks were loaded with 1,298 gallons of gasoline—two gallons less than capacity in order to escape the unlucky numeral 13—which would be sufficient for 58 hours flight. Captain Kingsford-Smith considered the margin sufficient for most contingencies.

FLIGHT NEVER MADE
The westward flight never before has been made, although tried frequently from various parts of Europe. In the spring of 1928 the airplane Bremen did complete a westward trans-Atlantic cross, from Baldonnel airfield, near here, to Greeney island, a lonely spot on the coast of Labrador, but it fell short of its goal, New York.

Romance flew with Captain Kingsford-Smith. If his flight is successful he will give up venturing, long distance attempts and marry Miss Mary Powell, a pretty 24-year-old Irish girl of Melbourne, Australia, whom he met a year ago on a boat going down to Antipodes from Vancouver. They fell in love with each other almost at first sight and became engaged. Save to a few friends, their engagement was not revealed until a few days ago.

Captain Kingsford-Smith said then that if successful on this trip he would never fly the Southern Cross again, but would settle down to the less hazardous work of manning a commercial aviation company in Australia.

Captain Kingsford-Smith already is an aviator of more than ordinary achievement. On May 31, 1928, with Charles Ulm and two Americans, Harry W. Lyon and James Warner, he made a flight to Hawaii, and thence to Australia by way of the Fiji Islands, which when completed June 10 after 7,300 miles and about 8 1/2 hours of flying brought him many decorations.

WEATHER IS FAVORABLE
The weather ahead of the fliers today was most propitious. There was a clear sky and at the start a five mile southeast breeze behind them. Predictions were for continued the weather, although some headwinds, as usual on an east to west flight, could be expected.

For a half hour before the start of the plane its engines roared so loudly that conversation was impossible. Hand shakings and gestures alone marked the farewell around the crowd—this was when Captain Saul, the navigator, who is a widower, kissed his little eight-year-old daughter, "Dess," and bade farewell, also with kisses, his fiancée Miss Marchant.

All members of the party were in high spirits at the start.

The Southern Cross will follow the northern great circle as far as Cape Race, traveling therefore about 1,900 miles before sighting land. It was estimated that this stage of the journey would take about 23 hours. From Cape Race the plane will strike down the coast toward Maine and New York.

FOUNDER OF ROTARY TELLS ABOUT AIMS

Paul P. Harris Delivers Welcome Address at Convention in Chicago

Chicago — (AP) — Chicago's latch string was out today as Paul P. Harris, founder of what is now International Rotary delivered his Welcome Home speech before 15,000 visiting Rotarians in the Chicago stadium as formal conferences of the silver jubilee anniversary were started. The audience accorded Harris an ovation when he appeared to tell how Rotary was founded by himself and three "pals" Feb. 23, 1905.

Proceeding the address an impromptu reception was held by Rotarians who made the pilgrimage to the birthplace of their organization.

Harris has seen his pet grow from a clique of four to the present organization embracing hundreds of thousands of members scattered in the 3,000 clubs of America and 62 other nations.

Friendship and good will as the basis of international understanding to minimize the dangers of warfare were the major ideas developed in Harris' speech.

"That principles of Rotary" Harris said "have been adopted in almost every country in the world is an indication of that vast power it can exercise in the field of international relations. We should continue the work in all countries until friendship and fair play shall be found in all worthy vocations."

HOOVER SENDS MESSAGE
Sessions today opened with addresses of welcome and the response, delivered by Floyd L. Bateman, president of the Chicago club, and by Otto Dolner, Vienna, respectively. A message of commendation from President Hoover was also read to the audience.

Work of vocational service craft assemblies was discussed by Raymond M. Havens, past president, Kansas City, Mo., who told of the work Rotary clubs are doing in this field.

"Rotary's Increasing Purpose" was the title of the president's address, delivered by M. Eugene Nessom, Duham, N. C., in which he said human relations had become the most urgent problem of our day.

"The greatest usefulness, for the strength and influence which Rotary has achieved" he said "lies in choosing the means by which friendship can be interpreted and applied, in teaching us that distances no longer exist and human relations must be founded on friendship."

While delegates are occupied in their deliberations, entertainment for the visitors goes on golf tournaments and tours of the city having been arranged.

has had the earnest support of many administration members but their views have been overridden. The sensible thing is either to take care of these emergencies of marginal cases and then soberly determine future action, or alternatively, to make the beginnings of sound action now on such questions as will contribute to the ultimate settlement of the problem with real justice to veterans and with generosity in solution for the future.

Such action can be taken within our present financial resources and I believe the nation would support them."

LA FOLLETTE ATTACK
Leading an assault on Mr. Mellon yesterday prior to the vote, Senator LaFollette, Republican, Wisconsin, belittled claims that a treasury deficit would result unless taxes were increased. Following enactment of the veterans measure.

"I venture the assertion," LaFollette said as loud applause broke out in the galleries, "that Andrew W. Mellon has never been right regarding any prediction of a deficit made at a time when a measure was pending he did not like."

"He opposed the soldiers' bonus because he said it would create a deficit of $600,000,000, yet within 90 days we had a surplus of $300,000,000." "So that the greatest secretary of the treasury since Hamilton" was off to the tune of $500,000,000 in 90 days."

gations to vote for Strickland's party in the next election.

The feeling became intensive May 23, when an English-born nationalist attempted to assassinate the premier. A demonstration took place outside the Catholic cathedral in Malta June 8 when word was spread in the streets that the Catholic archbishop had upheld the church's right to interfere in matters of state. Cries of "down with Italy" were heard.

In the latest stage of the contest the British government and the Holy See have issued statements of their positions. The British publishing a "Blue Book" which alleged Vatican interference in Malta and the Holy See answering with a "White Book" which held that the church had a constitutional right to participate in the Maltese government.

Name For Lindbergh's Son Still Remains Uncertain

Englewood, N. J.—(AP)—Public interest in the son born to Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh was centered today upon the choice of a name for the famous infant.

Despite the reticence of Colonel Lindbergh and other members of the Morrow household since the announcement of the birth of a 7 1/2 pound boy Sunday, the public seemed to take it for granted that the child would be christened either Charles Augustus Jr., after his father, or Charles Dwight, a name combining that of his father and his maternal grandfather, Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow.

Unofficial word filtered past guards at the gate of the Morrow estate that Mrs. Lindbergh and the son born on her 24th birthday were "making satisfactory progress," but that was all.

A messenger boy tolled up the hill to the Morrow home at half hour intervals all day yesterday, each time bringing a sheaf of telegrams and cablegrams of congratulation from all parts of the world. Among them were messages from President Hoover, Don Manuel C. Tellez, Mexican ambassador to Washington, and persons prominent in aviation circles.

Flowers and other gifts sent by friends were delivered in a truck. Next in interest to the probable name of the baby were the future plans of the Lindbergh family.

Colonel Lindbergh, who called upon Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd yesterday, said that he "hoped in the near future" to make a tour of all the Pan-American airways lines. He is technical advisor for the lines. Such a trip would take him down the west coast as far as Santiago de Chile, across the continent to Buenos Aires and down the east coast to Rio de Janeiro. His previous South American flights have taken him to Venezuela, Colombia, Dutch and British Guiana.

GRANDMOTHER'S VISIT

Mrs. Lindbergh only recently completed her season's work in the Detroit school where she is a teacher.

CAUSE FOR WORRY

Now that the new tariff act is a "fait accompli" the administration is showing great concern about the political consequences, and with good cause. Never at any time enthusiastic over the mess into which the interests allied with the Republican party had maneuvered it into, it is now going to extremes to justify it and make it appear in a favorable light. Mr. Mellon makes a speech announcing that in his opinion the tariff will not adversely affect the business interests of the United States or retard business recovery. Also Dr. Julius Klein, that eminently competent member of the department of commerce, has been enlisted to praise the tariff.

Simultaneously President Hoover declares his intention of reorganizing the tariff commission immediately, as he is empowered to do under the Smoot-Hawley act. Just what is to result from this checkup of the commission no one can say, but there is the inference that a new personnel will be selected that will be more sympathetic toward lowering than raising rates. Senator Borah and others who opposed the bill are not enthusiastic or optimistic about the operation of the flexible provision. They contend that it is not likely to work any different in the future than it has in the past, and furthermore that it will take a century to accomplish any real reformation of the rate structure.

In the meantime the sensational break in the stock market which occurred the day Mr. Hoover signed the bill continues to depress prices and many believe that the worst is not over. It may be safely assumed that the expected decrease of earnings in the semi-annual statements soon to be made has been liberally discounted, so that the way was clear for any stimulation the new tariff act might give to business by anticipation of its favorable and prosperous effects. It cannot be a mere coincidence that the bottom has again dropped out of the market on the enactment of the Smoot-Hawley tariff measure. There are well grounded fears that it will adversely affect our foreign commerce and that it is going to make it more difficult than ever to market our surpluses, industrial as well as agricultural. This evidently explains the unfavorable reaction of the stock market.

The French government, through the tariff committee of parliament has already outlined a procedure which will put the new act to a significant test. It is going to demand of President Hoover that he recommend that the tariff commission approve an immediate reduction in those rates which are expected to injure French industry and reduce French exports to the United States. In the event that this relief is refused the government announces it will exclude the United States from the most favored nation clause of its own tariff law and give preference to those nations which do not discriminate against it as it asserts the United States is doing. It is predicted that if this is done the sale of American automobiles in France, for instance, will be almost entirely ended. Automobile manufacturers in the United States are seriously concerned over prospects of foreign retaliation and consistently opposed the new tariff. We have Canada as well as France to reckon with in readjusting our commercial relations with the outside world. Everything indicates that upward revision of the tariff came at a most inopportune time, that it was not justified by the facts and that it may injure rather than improve American business. That the administration is worried over the prospects is perfectly evident. It faces the all elections with anything but a smiling outlook.

A JOB FOR THE OLIGARCHY

With Alvin C. Reis and John W. Reynolds, Progressives, both firm in their determination to run for attorney general this fall, they will expose a vice, a fatal weakness in the political maneuvers and power of the oligarchy that until recent times ruled Wisconsin as it pleased and is still a potent factor in its affairs.

When more than one man of a political group desires to represent that group in seeking a particular office who shall determine which one will be favored? That is a weakness in the primary law of Wisconsin that everyone recognizes but to cure which no one seems to suggest an accepted solution, although other states with somewhat similar primary laws provide a convention to iron out such difficulties. In Wisconsin the regular Republicans hold a voluntary convention at which a thousand or more delegates representing not only the counties but every hamlet in the state chosen at caucuses open to the public are present. The doors are closed to no one. Every voice may be heard. The convention too is open to the public with all facilities provided for the press so that all proceedings may be published and made known to the people. It is an honest attempt upon the part of the regulars to obtain a truthful picture of public opinion, a studious endeavor to provide that degree of publicity and fair representation that is the very soul of democracy. We do not know that anyone else has ever even suggested a better system.

But the Reis-Reynolds clash unless smoothed over by the voluntary withdrawal of one will expose in glaring fashion the defect in the Progressive machinery in Wisconsin, at once arbitrary, as undemocratic as any soviet, and as secret as anything that needs to be hidden. To whom will the support of the Progressive machine be given? In the past similar difficulties have been answered by the meeting of a few men in a small room. Who selected them? The people? Banana oil! They kept a guard at the door with stiff jaw and as stiff an arm who carried out instructions to admit only the limited few. Would the press be admitted to publish to the people the transactions of this powerful clique? Let no one crack his lip with laughter. Most of the attendants residing in Madison, that city supplies most of the candidates.

Were either Reis or Reynolds stubborn enough to refuse obedience to the secret meeting of secret members appointed no one knows how, watch the fireworks. Traitor, Benedict Arnold, Judas Iscariot will be the favorite epithets.

With Reis and Reynolds both entering the primary the nomination of Eberlein proposed by the Oshkosh convention is nearly assured. But in reality there isn't much chance of both running despite the avowed determination of each aspirant now. When the big thick door of the secret room opens and the oligarchy of Wisconsin steps out and names the candidate the custom is for the defeated one to trail his way home with the hope that his timidity in the presence of the great powers will earn for him some day a morsel flung from the groaning board.

Democracy? The will of the people? Just as a cemetery is a place of joy and mirth and laughter.

MEXICO MAKES PROGRESS

Mexico has just taken a national census and finds that its population has increased 14.4 per cent in the last nine years. Heavy immigration into the United States—500,000 in nine years—was thought to have held down Mexican gains. Other factors, however, have more than counteracted the movement out of the country.

The Mexican birth rate remains high. The death rate has been greatly lowered. Better sanitation and hygiene, especially preventive action taken against typhus and smallpox—diseases that used to cause destructive epidemics and take a heavy toll of life—have been particularly effective in lessening mortality. Mexico is to be congratulated for making this sort of progress.

THE CABOT'S DISCOVERY
On June 24, 1497, John Cabot, an Italian sea-captain living at Bristol, England, and his son Sebastian, discovered North America when they arrived at a point believed to be Cape Breton. The Cabots were financed by Henry VII of England, who, greatly aroused by the discovery of Columbus in 1492, hoped an Englishman would find the land which would ultimately make London a "greater place for spices than Alexandria."

All that was accomplished on this voyage, however, was the hoisting of the British flag on the new continent. For this achievement the Cabots were rewarded 10 pounds. The following year the Cabots sailed westward again and went farther north in the hope of discovering a short passage to the Indies. The reports made of the vast quantities of cod fish seen in the vicinity of Newfoundland opened the way to the establishment by the English and French of the largest fisheries of the world.

But since there seemed to be little profit in these voyages they were abandoned. Later, England claimed all of North America because they said Cabot had been the first European to see the continent, for the voyages of the Norsemen had been forgotten long before.

A Hint to the June Bride

A BYSTANDER IN WASHINGTON

BY HERBERT PLUMMER
Washington One of the most spectacular figures Capitol Hill ever has known is back on the job. Thomas Lindsay Blanton of Abilene—more familiarly known as Tom Blanton of Texas—has experienced dozens of congressional disputes, and he was plunged into another one before they allowed him to take his oath as representative from the 17th congressional district of Texas.

He took his old seat only after a dispute that concerned, among other things, his election certificate. Representative Clary of Michigan said it should have read "representative in congress," instead of "congressman," but the house overruled the objection in a viva voce vote.

The fiery Texan has changed little since he left Washington more than a year ago with the statement that he was through with politics for good.

He still is the robust, broad-shouldered, straight-haired Blanton of old. That audacity and pugnacity which earned for him during his previous stay in congress the title of "stormy petrel of the house" is yet evident.

COLORFUL CAREER
There have been few men in congress whose terms have been as colorful as Tom Blanton's. He had the reputation of killing more bills, on points of order, than any other member. He missed expulsion once by a margin of eight votes when he was accused of printing unprivileged remarks in the Congressional Record.

He has had personal altercations with his colleagues in the cloakroom of the house. His verbal clashes with colleagues on the floor have been many and bitter.

Fearless, always fighting, nothing has daunted Tom Blanton. At one time, as a member of the house committee on the District of Columbia, when he was pushing charges of graft and corruption in the Washington police department, he took up his abode at the headquarters of a national woman's organization and remained there until the storm had blown over.

FOUGHT CENSURE
Back in 1921, when the house voted unanimously to have Speaker Gillett censure him, Blanton fought back single-handed to prevent such action being taken.

After being censured, he found his way out of the chamber into the cloakroom. There he fell in a faint, tears streaming from his eyes. But one hour later he was at his office, coatless and collarless, tackling a huge stack of correspondence.

He has announced that he is back in Washington to put a stop to what he calls raids on the United States treasury by congress. This statement kept him from being voted at first—forced him to wait until the election returns of his district could be canvassed.

SOME CHOICE CANNED DIETS FOR GASTRIC OR DUODENAL ULCER PATIENTS.

We regular doctors, when in our best form, frown on ready-made diet lists such as you may purchase from a mail-order firm or get gratis with a sample of Cink & Geeser's Correctose No. 2 by filling out your name and address and lock of your hair on the card you find with the package of Pure-Punk you bought for the baby. But we can't sit back and see Tom, Dick and Harry, without light or license, prescribing neat, workmanlike diets for all askers, so our professional guild, the American Medical association is publishing a book that is crammed full of canned diets and menus and even specific instructions for preparing the foods listed on the diets, and just to give you an idea how helpful the new doctor book is going to be I am taking the liberty of reading you lists of things allowed and forbidden in the first three or four months of treatment of ambulatory patients with stomach or duodenal ulcer, as designed in the book:

Routine 1—Foods Allowed.
Beverages: Buttermilk, cocoa, egg-nog, malted milk, milk, milk and cream.

Cream soups: Made with sweet cream, sour cream or white sauce and strained vegetables.

Bread: Toast, soda or graham crackers and zwiebach.

Eggs: Coddled, poached, raw or soft cooked.

Fats: Butter, cream, oil and oleomargarine.

Cereals: Cornmeal, cream of wheat, farina, hominy, malt breakfast food, strained oatmeal, petti-johns, raisins, rice, wheatena.

Desserts: Apple snow, custard, gelatin, junket, prune whip, simple puddings, tapioca, ice cream, if eaten slowly.

Fruits: Applesauce, baked apple without the skin, canned or stewed peaches, stewed dried apricots (pured), canned or stewed pears, stewed prunes (pured).

Vegetable: Pured asparagus, carrots, corn, peas, spinach, summer squash.

Foods to Avoid.
Avoid salt and highly seasoned foods such as catsup, chili sauce, horse radish, mustard, pickles, and spices.

Avoid acid foods such as grapefruit, oranges, tomatoes, and vinegar.

Avoid such vegetables as dried beans, Brussels sprouts, cabbage, cauliflower, onions, green peppers, radishes, sauerkraut and turnips.

Use fruits and vegetables ONLY when cooked.

Avoid meats, chicken broth, meat soups and gravies.

Avoid fried foods, pastries and hot breads.

Avoid very sweet foods such as cakes, syrups and candies.

Do not eat nuts.

Do not drink tea or coffee.

Do not eat cheese.

Not—Eat six small meals each day. It does not follow, patients should understand that all these functions are unalterable or essential in any case just because they are given in the book we doctors publish. In fact individual adjustments are advisable in adapting the diet in every case. These "canned diets" are helpful to physician and patient, just as are certain rules for recovery from tuberculosis or habits or ways of living for the diabetic patient.

Not only the patient's needs, but the needs of the rest of the family are covered by the suggestions in the Doctors Own Diet Dictator.

For along with the outline of Routine 1 the book will suggest menus for the rest of the family for "if you eat at restaurant." And then, by George, it will give complete directions for preparing and cooking every item suggested.

Watch this space for more selections from this Baedeker in Right Eating.

Seen And Heard In New York

BY RICHARD MASSOCK

New York—Mrs. Minnie Madder Fiske, the doyen of American comedienne, has two loves—the theater and protection of animals.

When she is not playing in the former, she travels in the interest of the S. P. C. A.

In keeping with her work for the less cruel methods of animal trapping, on which she gives out literature to anyone who will take it, Mrs. Fiske never wears furs.

For that matter, she has almost no interest in clothes.

She relies on a fashionable stylist to dress her for the stage.

Until a few years ago she always appeared in public swathed in veils. These have since been discarded, but she still wears her hats way down over her large kind blue eyes.

ALWAYS AN ACTRESS

Minnie Madder was born in New Orleans, Dec. 19, 1865, and educated in the convents of Cincinnati, and St. Louis between her stage appearances.

For she was an actress when she was 3 years old, first appearing as the Duke of York in "Richard III." She had her own company at 15, drawing about $75 a week as star.

She will not play now unless her husband, Harrison Grey Fiske, directs the production.

Nor will she have women in the cast who are taller than she is, unless the role especially calls for it.

Yet Mrs. Fiske has a delightful, mid-Victorian charm—very gracious, very firm.

She will stop on the street, no matter if she is in a hurry, to pick up a stray cat or dog. Usually she has a kennel of dogs for whom she is endeavoring to find homes.

She once was the prime mover in having a public watering trough installed for the horse inhabitants of Cleveland. It has disappeared—not used enough.

LIVES IN SECLUSION

One of the most mysterious women of the theater, Mrs. Fiske usually meets people by appointment in the lobby of the Murry Hill hotel on Park avenue.

She owns two homes—one in the Adirondacks, the other on Long Island—in which she lives a most secluded life. A story has it that for years people have rowed across the island on which one home stands, endeavoring to see her.

Averse to publicity, she consistently refuses to give interviews and will not be quoted. She insists on reading every line of press matter sent out about her.

An indefatigable worker—in rehearsal, the first to show up and the last to leave—she apparently regrets every minute lost.

She knows exactly the types she wants for every role, and the effect to be achieved.

She has made and lost several fortunes in the theater and is a veteran at ouing, which she does not mind a bit.

"The Rivals" is her favorite play. Mrs. Malaprop her favorite role.

One of her close friends is Prof. Charles Townsend Copeland—"Copey"—of Harvard. Once she called him from under his window on the campus, shouting "It's Minnie, Copey."

She has two honorary degrees from universities.

A man there makes fine pottery and is clever as can be.

And so they went there very quick, said Scouty, "Say! This place is slick." Great urns made out of pottery were standing here and there. The pottery man was hard at work. He said, "Hello," but didn't shirk his daily toil. The Tinies found his handiwork was rare.

SCENES OF 1898 ARE RECALLED BY OLD NEWS STORY

Local Spanish American War Soldiers Left for Camp on April 28, 1898

As the thirty-first annual convention of the United Spanish American War Veterans of Wisconsin, which is to be held here Thursday, Friday and Saturday, approaches in many of Appleton's citizens recall that day in April 28, 1898, when more than 60 local boys left to take part in this war.

Following is the story which appeared in the Appleton Daily Post on April 28, 1898, telling of the uproar in the city as the boys entrained for camp at Milwaukee.

MUCH EXCITEMENT

"Never, probably since the stirring days of '61, has there been such patriotic excitement in Appleton as today. The day was ushered in at 2:15 this morning by a din of steam whistles on the water power sufficient literally to wake the dead. It continued for a quarter of an hour or more, and he must indeed have been a tired man who failed to hear it. At first people thought some horrid catastrophe must have happened, but as soon as sleep was thoroughly banished everyone realized that it must be a signal to Company G. In home holding boys of the company no one thought of going to bed again and in most of them, for the first time, probably, came a realizing sense of what it means when grim visaged war stalks through the land beckoning some loved ones from many a household to the defense of the common hearthstone or to the redress of some wrong that else must continue to oppress the world.

"Such sights as those of today and the feeling that they inspire must be treasured remembrances for ever. Flags flying, bands playing, stores and manufactories closed, and the streets lined with cheering thousands as the grave boys in blue tramped resolutely by.

"The armory this morning was a scene of tremendous activity. It was crowded with members of the local company and hundreds of friends came to see them off and give them a hearty Godspeed, and the sound of hammers smote the air as the packing cases were nailed up and prepared to be loaded onto the waiting drays outside. Mothers, wives and daughters mingled with the strong, and if some eyes were overflowing nothing but sympathy was felt for it.

NEARING MEETING

"At about 10 o'clock Mayor Erb sent out a request that stores be closed from 10:45 to 12 o'clock to allow everybody to go to the trains and see the boys off. The schools were deserted early in the morning and the Lawrence Cadets were also doing honor to the departing company so that work was also practically suspended at the college. All these people old and young augmented this crowd that lined the avenue and surged about the armory.

"At about 10:15 the line of march was taken up to the Northwestern depot. First came the band playing the national anthem, then the Lawrence cadets, then the members of the fire department, then the Grand Army corps, and then 'our boys,' and lastly—everyone else.

"Even the W. J. Bryan crowd was not a marker to the thousands of people who gathered at the station and covered the platform, box cars and neighboring roofs, shouting and cheering, and inquiring about the matter with the company, and various individual members thereof, to be assured in stentorian tones that they were 'all right,' good people, as may be proved in good time—though God forbid.

"The boys were laden with gifts of cigars and tobacco and during the morning a subscription paper was hastily filled with signatures pledging over $700 for requirement

Spanish War Soldiers Leave For Camp

Abe is a picture taken on E. College-ave on April 28, 1898, when more than 60 Appleton boys left for camp at Milwaukee where they were to be trained to be sent to the Philippines to fight in the Spanish American war. This scene is recalled by many of Appleton's older residents as preparations are under way to hold the annual convention of the state veterans here this week.

PAJAMA RAGE SEEN IN NEW PARIS FROCK

Crepe de Chine Dress Comes Very Desorously to Ankles, but Is Divided

BY MILEEN LAMONT

Copyright, 1930, By Cons. Press

New York.—Of course, the pajama rage has inspired the newest Paris style. But, really, didn't Paris say something of late about womanly styles? Anyway, the newest frock is of printed crepe de chine, and comes in womanly fashion half way to the ankle, only, the skirt is divided into pajama panties!

Because the recent horse races brought out scads of very long dresses, many supposed that ankle-lengths were firmly established in England. But the truth is that except for very formal occasions, London women show a marked aversion to skirts of much more than knee length. Like New York and Hollywood, London doesn't object to less upon the street.

The widest bracelet you ever saw is now fashionable for evening wear. It almost covers the forearm, being made up of seven strands of imitation cowrie shells interspersed with bits of crystal. Many a time some new ornament has been hailed as barbaric, but this one is. We mean it really is, my dear.

Textile manufacturers of Czechoslovakia are much concerned over the proposed increase in agricultural duties because the countries whose agricultural exports would be most affected by the change are Czechoslovakia's best textile customers.

RAILROAD FIRM'S FUTURE BRIGHTER THROUGH DECISION

Western, Pacific Gains Access to More Business in California

BY CHARLES F. SPEARE
Copyright, 1930 by Cons. Press
New York — The future of the Western Pacific railroad, controlled by Arthur Curtiss James and sought after by the Van Sweringens, who have recently gained possession of the Missouri Pacific, has been distinctly improved by the decision of the Interstate Commerce commission permitting the Western Pacific and the Great Northern to build a 200-mile extension which will give the James line new traffic territory in northern California, and equally important, its long coveted entrance into the San Francisco district.

The opinion rendered by the Interstate Commerce commission was reached in shorter time than it had taken in any important application before it in recent years. Briefs were filed about two months ago, after an extended hearing in which objections to the proposal of the Western Pacific and the Great Northern to build 200-miles of line was made by the Southern Pacific and Union Pacific. Earlier in the year the commission had denied to the Western Pacific its request to construct new line south of San Francisco in the region already well occupied by its competitors.

STIFFEN CONTROL
It was the feeling today in railroad circles that the right the commission has granted the Western Pacific to invade the territory of the Southern Pacific and to link up with the Great Northern railway in the proposed new stem of its system, will stiffen the resistance of the present controlling interests in the Western Pacific to efforts to get this property away from them. It may also bring about some alignment that will give the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy an entrance to the Pacific coast, instead of being its bottled up in the event that it is separated from the Great Northern and the Northern Pacific.

Western Pacific interests have contended for a long while that they should be permitted to extend the scope of their operations to the north and into the San Francisco district in order to compete on more equal terms with the southern Pacific. Their argument has been that unless they were now permitted to occupy additional competitive territory, and especially that around San Francisco, there would be prohibitions against further development of the property as an independent system whose competitive influence is considerable value to California shippers.

BUILT JOINTLY
The proposed new line of 200 miles is to be built by the Western Pacific and Great Northern, the one being responsible for 110 miles at a cost of about $10,000,000 and the other for 90 miles at about $3,350,000. The Great Northern is to have the right to operate over the Western Pacific section on reasonable terms. It is expected that construction will begin some time this summer.

Arthur Curtiss James, whose road is now to come into a stage competition than ever with the southern Pacific, is said to be one of the largest individual holders of Southern Pacific stock. This fact has made his contest for approval of the right to build in the Southern Pacific territory of Northern California of more than ordinary interest. Mr. James is also credited with being one of the largest holders of Great Northern stock as well as of Northern Pacific. His interests naturally make him favor the Burlington, jointly owned by Great Northern and Northern Pacific, rather than the Missouri Pacific, as an ally of the Western Pacific. Those closely identified with him intimated a few weeks ago that if the Interstate Commerce commission denied the Western Pacific application to build the proposed line to northern California Mr. James might then be willing to pass his control of the property over to the Van Sweringens. That does not seem likely today. What is most apparent is a highly competitive struggle for California traffic in the future between the southern Pacific, Missouri Pacific and Western Pacific systems.

GOLF PRIZE AWARDED TO MRS. M. RAY

Mrs. E. K. Volter was in charge of the day's event. Luncheon preceded the golf. Mrs. C. E. Clark, Neenah, will be chairman for next Monday and in case of rain bridge will be played.

Junior Day is being observed Tuesday with Miss Mary Orison in charge. Luncheon was served at 12:30 and a putting contest was to take place in the afternoon. At this time plans for the summer were to be made.

BUSINESS PROFITS ROSE 17 PER CENT THRU 1929

New York (CP)—As an indication of the degree of prosperity enjoyed by American business in 1929, the National City Bank reports an increase of 17 per cent in profits by 1,520 concerns in 1929 over the previous year.

For companies taken from all lines of manufacturing and trade except public utilities and financial companies, the net profits for 1929 amounted to $1,160,000,000 as compared with $854,000,000 in 1928. This was a net of $306,000,000 or 17.2 per cent. The net profit of these concerns increased during the year by $1,963,000,000 to $3,324,000,000. Only three lines of industry—Cuban sugar, wool, and leather tanning—were the only ones included in the survey reporting a decline.

The Story of Sue
by MARGERY HALE
© 1929 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

W HAT did Bob say?" Corrinne asked Sue, under cover of the general conversation which went around the Merryman living room while the cinnamon toast and steaming coffee were passed.

"I haven't seen him," Sue confessed. "I forgot."

"You shouldn't say that," Corrinne admonished her. "You ought to say that you decided it would be wiser not to talk to him. That would exonerate you and leave me in the wrong. You're too truthful. But it's all right. I'm going to school to get some books tomorrow and I'll see him then."

"Hadin' you better leave him alone? Let him play with June now."

"Of course, but one nice thing about being a married woman is that all your old boy friends can be so nice to you, without it meaning a thing. As soon as I get settled I'm going to have a party for that gang."

The evening turned out to be cozy and informal, after all, and if Ted had any special interest in the fact that Sarah was with Dr. Burton, he concealed it and was gracious. He seemed to like the young physician instead.

The next afternoon, just after lunch, Corrinne entered Sue's office, the fox fur doing duty this time over a navy blue coat with a cape and exaggerated sleeves, which was topped by a beret of the same material. Her coat revealed a dress of brighter blue and she tapped the floor with a dark blue slipper and played with dark blue gloves.

Sue caught Miss Parsons' and Jack's eye both on her sister and knew what they must be thinking. Plainly it hadn't taken Cinderella long to locate the best modistes when the prince produced the glass slipper.

Sue, watching her as she talked to Jack realized with a little pang that cut into the gay bravado she had been showing that Harry and Corrinne, Jack and Barbara would be thrown together a great deal because of the friendship of the two men.

"I've been to school," Corrinne confided when the others turned back to their work. "And you should have seen everyone stare! That old crank of a principal wanted to ask me what right I had to take such a step without consulting the board of education and then he remembered that Mr. Becker is president of the august body. I saw Bob." Sue was quieter then. "He's an awfully nice boy and he actually seemed hurt. I'm sorry. But then, it shouldn't bother him. I guess it wasn't any of his business."

"We're having dinner at Beckers' tonight," the boy voice ran on, "and tomorrow night Jack is throwing a dinner because he wants to celebrate for Harry. I don't know how many of us." She produced a blue enamel vanity case set with pieces of rose cloisonne and dusted a powder puff across her tilted nose. "I have to run along now. As soon as I get my car I'll take you driving."

The buzzer sounded on Sue's desk and she noticed Jack was calling her.

SYNTHETIC SUN FOUND AS RESULT OF "TOUGH BREAK"

Movie Men Make Important Discovery When Real Sun Won't Shine

BY JESSIE HENDERSON
Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press
Oxnard, Calif.—(CPA)—Because of a tough break, they made a discovery in motion pictures up here. They brought Gary Cooper and his company to this isolated stretch of beach, built a Noma goldrush camp almost a mile long, erected a big pier, rented one steamboat, two schooners and a flock of lighters, installed a small village in tents, put in a radio phone department from which the boats were directed, spent scads of money and got set to shoot the picture.

And the sun wouldn't shine. Yes, the widely known climate of California went on strike. For a fortnight while the beach had echoed to the sound of hammers, the sun had beamed with its usual helpful brilliance. On the day scheduled for the first camera work, the clouds rolled in and the sun went out.

They waited 48 hours or so, none too patiently. For one thing, many a handsome movie countenance was lurking behind a specially grown beard and nobody wanted the beard to linger any longer than necessary. For another thing, radio phone operators' salaries, stars' salaries, camera men's salaries and the rest of the overhead went creaking gaily onward. For a third thing, a great, big tide arose and they were afraid the pier would end before the picture began.

Actors went hunting mud-hens in the dunes. Actors went to Ventura to the lights. Actors hung around the radio phone tent, asking the operator if he could get New York, Florida, Transatlantic vessels, which he could and did. Actors did everything but act.

Finally, with a baleful look at the lowering clouds, which by the bye lasted with one interruption for 11

LOCAL MAN CHARGED WITH PETTY LARCENY

Police here yesterday arrested Charles Melzer, 709 E. Brewster-st., on a warrant issued at Neenah charging him with petty larceny. The arrest was made by Sergeant Matthew McGinnis after the local police received word that Melzer was wanted at Neenah. He was turned over to Neenah police at once.

SHOE DEALERS TO CONVENE AT WAUSAU

The annual convention of Wisconsin Retail Shoe Dealers will be held July 28, 29, and 30 at Wausau. It was announced Tuesday in a program received here by local shoe dealers. Ten Appleton shoe retailers will attend the annual conference.

days, the director began to shoot the initial scene, anyway. He missed all his lights on the Main Street of Noma, shouted "Camera" and plunged ahead.

The results were sent in to Hollywood. From the projection room came word that they were perfectly elegant. Came also the discovery that a scene taken on a cloudy day by the aid of lights is a scene taken under conditions absolutely ideal for sharp, clear-cut photography.

If you happen to be starting a motion picture company, as they are doing for example in London and Paris, this discovery means a lot. It means that lights and cameras have unwittingly developed to the point where the sunshine of Hollywood and its environs is only a secondary factor. Climate helped make Hollywood the cinema capital of the world. It would bring a mean grin to many a face if eventually cloudy days helped to keep it so.

STATE SECRETARY RECOVERING FROM SEVERE ILLNESS

Clot on Blood Vessel Causes Grave Fears for Life, but He Rallies

BY EWALD L. ALMEN
Madison—Secretary of State Theodore Damann's critical illness and the meeting of the statewide citizens committee on crime and criminal justice held attention at the state capitol the past week.

For several weeks, Secretary Damann reached a critical stage early in the week and hope of recovery was slight. Relatives were called to his bedside and physicians expected death momentarily but the secretary rallied and at the end of the week showed a decided improvement. A blood clot on a blood vessel leading to the lung caused the secretary's serious illness.

A suggestion that criminals be sentenced by a commission of experts rather than the court was the most startling remark made at the meeting of the committee on crime and criminal justice. Justice E. Ray Stevens of the supreme court offered this suggestion after depicting the results of rigid rules laid down by legislators. Many criminals who are sentenced to prison should rather be committed to institutions where they could be rehabilitated mentally and socially, the justice said.

Two million dollars was the minimum set by Col. John J. Hannan, president of the board of control, as necessary for prison reform. Painting a picture of overcrowded penitentiaries and woefully inadequate facilities in other state institutions, Col. Hannan urged immediate appropriation of $2,000,000 and additional funds when deemed necessary.

On the eve of the crime committee's meeting, the emergency board allotted approximately $150,000 for equipment for various penal and correctional institutions. The money came from a fund set aside by the 1929 legislature for the construction of buildings and the improvement of charitable and penal institutions.

More than $600,000 was released by Gov. Walter Kohler for highway construction during the past week. Several contracts for the construction of bridges were signed in addition to highway improvements. Most of the work given impetus by the governor will be done in central and northern Wisconsin.

Six citizens appointed to a committee by Gov. Kohler left the state for an inspection trip through Texas citrus fruit lands. The committee was created after many months of controversy between Wisconsin and Texas over the sale of Texas lands to Wisconsin residents. The real estate brokers board precipitated the controversy by refusing to grant licenses to Texas land firms operating in Wisconsin.

One bank—the Farmers & Merchants bank of Fall Creek—was closed during the week. The state banking department took over the bank after officers were forced to close its doors because of frozen assets and withdrawal of deposits. The bank listed deposits at approximately $136,000.

Dairymen from all sections of the state met on the call of the department of agriculture and markets to discuss remedies for the depression in the cheese industry. Overproduction, underconsumption and the tariff were blamed by various speakers for the current depression. A recommendation that every farmer market his cheese through the National Cheese Producers' association was made by the conference.

COURTS CAN'T FILL LAW DEFICIENCIES, CHIEF JUSTICE SAYS

Rules in Case of Lieutenant Governor Huber Who Sought Immediate Trial

Madison—(P)—Deficiencies in the law should not be supplied by the courts, the supreme court held in an opinion filed late yesterday. The view on the right of courts to assume jurisdiction came in the case of Lieut. Gov. Henry A. Huber who, accused as a probable violator of the corrupt practices act, sought to force an immediate trial.

Lieut. Gov. Huber was accused in a petition filed with Gov. Walter Kohler last February. The governor appointed state's counsel to prosecute the lieutenant governor if there was sufficient cause but counsel has not filed a summons and complaint. Believing the case is being delayed as a political stroke by his enemies, Huber appealed to the circuit court which ordered the filing of a summons and complaint. The supreme court reversed this order.

Under the corrupt practices act, an elector may file a petition asking appointment of special counsel to investigate a candidate but no provision is made for the time in which summons and complaint must be issued. Chief Justice Marvin B. Rosenberry wrote the opinion of the supreme court in the case. In the preface he said the situation presented by the facts in the case "is certainly novel."

"The governor having appointed counsel upon the petition of an elector, the one accused of a violation of the act seeks dismissal of the action before it is begun," the opinion read, "if the circuit court was without power to dismiss the action, then

POLICE ASKED TO LOOK FOR MISSING BAY MAN

Police here have been asked to look for Rudolph J. Leterman, 32, Green Bay, who disappeared from his home on June 2. He leaves a wife and two children at Green Bay, according to the notes sent out by William Nick, a Brownsville, Wis., man, who was driving a 1925 model Star sedan when he disappeared. He is about five feet, five inches tall; weighs 150 pounds; has heavy black hair and dark brown eyes.

jurisdiction has been in some way invoked. The action having never been begun, it could not be dismissed. This conclusion rests upon such elementary principles that further discussion would serve no useful purpose.

In another part of the opinion the justice wrote: "It is quite evident that it was the purpose of the legislature that the proceeding should be summary and expeditious. Having the whole matter under consideration and having specified certain limitations of time in respect to some matters and with respect to others having left the time unlimited, it is certainly not within the province of the court in effect to amend the act, and prescribe limitations where the legislature prescribed none."

"The legislature may have assumed that partisan zeal would lead to prompt and speedy compliance with the statute. If the law is defective it should be remedied."

HAWKS WOULD SET NEW CROSS COUNTRY MARK

Los Angeles—(P)—Association of C. H. Hawk Hawks announced today that they would take off today in Wichita, Kan., on a monoplane in which he hopes to fly from coast to coast in 12 hours. Hawks is holder of four speed records and has set a record of 10 hours and 10 minutes for the coast-to-coast flight.

The Hawk Hawks said he planned to make the speedy trip of coast to coast in 12 hours and 10 minutes. He is accompanied by Charles A. Lindbergh, Colonel Roscoe Turner and William Post and Edward Scholer. Los Angeles to New York in breakfast-to-dinner time is his aim. They said the New York Los Angeles record is held by Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh who made a one-stop flight in 14 hours 15 minutes 22 seconds.

Primo Carnera Wins From Godfrey On Foul In Fifth

GIANT NEGRO HAD BETTER OF FIGHT UNTIL LOW BLOW

Pennsylvania Commission Will Investigate Before Paying Boxers

BY EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer
PHILADELPHIA.—(AP)—Another foul caused a stir today about heavyweight prize fighting.

This time it was George Godfrey, the giant Negro of Leipsville, Pa., who committed the foul. This time the fallen gladiator, writhing an agonized groan on the floor of the battle pit, was Primo Carnera, the Italian colossus and again the faithful, come to see a fight, boomed and roared and shouted "take-and-went" home talking to themselves.

The battle of the bethemoths, the two largest men ever to face each other in a ring, missed duplicating the farcical ending of Jack Sharkey's duel with Max Schmeling for the heavyweight crown by less than two minutes. Whereas Sharkey fought his man in the last few seconds of the fourth round, Godfrey struggled past the first minute of the fifth before he drove an apparently incapacitating left hook into Carnera's groin.

Carnera writhed and moaned in the manner of all fouled fighters and finally was eased from his agony by merciful unconsciousness.

Almost 40,000 customers paid close to $200,000 for the bout. Godfrey, contrasting an even 250 pounds to the quarter of a ton of struggling humanity, belted the vast Venetian ditty in the first round, socked him solidly in the second, eased up in the third and went ahead in the fourth. Carnera showed genuine ability to balance his 262 pounds on his amazing feet despite the leather that bounced freely off his chin and buried deep in his body. He was fast on his feet for such a tremendous fellow. He was cool. But he damaged the Negro giant but little.

Dr. J. Webb Vaughn, of the Pennsylvania State Athletic commission, said Carnera had been fouled and incapacitated. Referee Tommy Riley called the foul without hesitation. Frank Wlener, chairman of the athletic commission, said there would be an investigation before the fighters were paid.

There was no question as to the low blow. Early in the fifth round Godfrey who had been punching short but with increasing lack of power to the body as the fight wore on suddenly landed a long left hook that looked foul from the start all the way to the point of contact. Carnera yowled, grimaced and then collapsed, his huge body shaking the reinforced ring as he landed.

CULLOP HAS HIT 20 HOMERS IN AA

Has Chance to Break Old Association Record Made by Bunny Brief

Chicago.—(AP)—Nick Cullop, one of baseball's vagabonds, has turned out to be the Babe Ruth of the American association.

Cullop is in the midst of a home run rampage while he helps Minneapolis in its march out of the American association depths. During the past three days, he has hit six home runs and now has a season's total of 20. He bids fair to break the nine-year-old association home run record established by Bunny Brief of Kansas City in 1921. The twentieth came yesterday with two mates on base and was the big shot that gave Minneapolis its fifth straight victory over Columbus, 8 to 7. The game went 12 innings and was broken up when Pitcher Doyle of the Senators hit a batsman with the bases full.

St. Paul's fortunes changed yesterday when Toledo pounded out a 15 to 5 decision. It was the first defeat in eight starts for the Saints and as Louisville won, they dropped back five and one half games from first place.

Louisville gained by defeating Milwaukee, 10 to 4. The Brewers got to Phil Weinert for 13 hits but he was effective in the pinches, leaving 12 Brewers stranded on the bases. Simmons and Ebram led the Colonel attack with four hits apiece.

Kansas City came back in the late innings and defeated Indianapolis, 4 to 3.

CUDWORTH POST WINS LEGION GOLF TROPHY

Alonso Cudworth post of the American Legion walked off with the team title in the annual American Legion tournament being played at the Green Lake C. C. course at Green Lake, Monday.

The Milwaukee legion golfers, led by Doc Tracy, professional at Woodmont, registered a 393 total to beat out Bay View post of Milwaukee, which finished second with a 417 score.

Other scores: Oakbrook, 422; Janesville, 430; Green Bay, 451; Ripon, 462; Milwaukee Electric Post, 467; Green Lake, 475 and Berlin, 505.

On the winning team, Doc Tracy had a 75, Max Shimon a 79, J. Worth 82, Joe Britz and St. John, Jr. 83. Tucker and St. John, Jr. played with the Bay View team and had a 75. L. Weinbaum turned in an 82, J. Power a 77, while Dickson had a 97 and McNamara an 86.

Morning of Fond du Lac led the qualifying round with a 74. The tournament will be completed Tuesday.

Winning — Eddie Shea, Chicago, knocked out Bobby Allen, Indiana, in the final.

'Keepsie Race Will Be Battle For Supremacy Between East And West

Writer Finds Badgers Well Coached but in Need of More Work

BY TED VOSBURGH
Poughkeepsie, N. Y.—(AP)—Despite the fortunes and misfortunes of a strenuous training campaign, the Navy and Columbia on the one hand and Washington and California on the other stood out today as the principal hopes of the east and the west in the classic intercollegiate rowing regatta Thursday.

Probably never before has the deep-seated rivalry between the eastern and western rowing colleges and especially between the coaching methods of the university of Washington graduates and the Glendons of the Navy and Columbia, been more apparent.

Nine times since the world war the crack crews of the country have fought it out on the broad reaches of the Hudson and one every occasion the winning varsity was a product of one or the other of these famous systems.

EAST HAS WON 5
The score now stands at 5 to 4 in favor of the easterners as a result of three victories for the Navy coached by the Glendons, old Dick and young Rich, and two for Columbia. Exclusively under the capable care of the younger Glendon. The west has scored with Washington three times and California once, the victories of both being traceable to the style of rowing and coaching that has its origin at Seattle as Ivy Ebricht, mentor of the Golden Bays is a former Washington coxswain.

In their battle to even matters and regain the championship now held by Columbia the western invaders have the moral support of Ed Leader, perhaps the outstanding coach-but little.

ALL-STARS WALLOP ATLAS MILL TEAM

Mortell Gets Two Homers, Two Doubles; Play Power Co. Wednesday

Ray Crane and his Atlas Mill softball team may baffle the boys playing in the National league but as far as the All-Stars, an independent club, is concerned the Mill club is just another ball team, trying to get along. The Stars walloped the Atlas squad last night at Wilson school grounds, 21 and 4.

The Stars got 24 hits during the evening, worked opposing pitchers for eight walks and counted 14 runs off Crane before he retired in the sixth inning.

Mortell, Kneip and Priebe were the individual stars in the All-Star lineup. Mortell hit for four bases on two occasions, doubled twice and walked once in six times at the plate. Kneip and Priebe both hit three times, the former getting a triple with the sacks loaded.

Priebe hurled for the Stars until the fifth when hurt with a battered ball. He allowed two hits during the period and gave no runs. Mortell relieved him and pitched airtight ball until the eighth and ninth innings when, with no chance of the game going against them the Stars let up and the Mill team scored four runs on six hits and a walk.

Wednesday evening the Stars play the Power company, Thursday evening the Telephone company and next week Thursday, the Tuttle Press.

STAGG TOURNEYS BANNED AT U. C.

Reports Persist That Officials Have Refused to Sanction Meets

Chicago.—(AP)—Reports persisted today without denial nor affirmation that the University of Chicago's board of athletic control has ordered Coach Amos Alonzo Stagg to discontinue his national prep basketball and track tournaments.

The reports were started by an alumnus, who said Coach Stagg had yielded and would hold no more of the athletic events, which have been fought by the National Federation of High School Athletic directors.

Opposition to the tournaments, led by C. W. Whitten of Chicago, was based on the complaint they took high school athletes away from their classes for too long a period and made athletic recruiting of prep stars easier. Coach Stagg denied the recruiting charge and contended a week at the tournaments, held annually, offered more education than a like period in the classroom.

University of Chicago officials refused to comment on the reports but said a final announcement would be made soon.

New York—Eddie Mack, Denver, stopped Joe Abrams, Brooklyn (10); Eddie Murdoch, Oklahoma outpointed Emil Rossi, New York (10).

Jones' Two English Golf Victories His Greatest

BY FRANCIS J. POWERS
Copyright 1930

CHICAGO.—Bobby Jones has exhausted the resources of the English language quite as completely as he has the world of golf championships. The last superlative was coined and spent long before the emperor won the British open championship at Hoylake and it is best to allow his record and the tools with which he sculptured golf's greatest masterpieces to speak for themselves.

Jones' dual victories in the British open and amateur championships are quite the greatest thing ever accomplished in golf. Forty years ago John Ball, the great amateur of golf's younger days, won both the British open and amateur and in 1916 Chick Evans took both of the American championships. But the achievements of those brilliant losers lose lustre when placed beside Jones' mighty shots at St. Andrews and Hoylake.

Neither Ball nor Evans faced fields as keen as those Jones defeated and that by the American, Walter Hagen. But as at St. Andrews, where he won in 1927, Jones ripped ten shots off the old monument and it is doubtful if the score ever will be beaten unless at some future date Bob returns to the scene of his triumph.

Jones now has achieved his eleven national championships and swiftly the old record of nine, by John Ball, fades into the misty background. That eleven easily may grow into fifteen or even twenty for at 28 the lure of competition runs strongly in a man and talk of Jones' retirement is not to be taken seriously.

American domination of golf is more complete than ever—or perhaps one should say Jones' domination. Through Bobby the United States, this year, has won the British open and amateur and Walker cup matches. Only the defeat of Glenna Collet at Fromby saved the British from a complete rout. It is the seventh consecutive year an American has brought home the British open title and the ninth in ten seasons. Only the victory of Arthur Havers at Troon, in 1923, broke the skin started by Jock Hutchison in 1921.

It was Bob's third victory in the open in as many starts—although a space of two years separated his last two wins. But no other man has won three in as many tries since Robbie Ferguson the Scot, did it back in the late seventies. For three British opens, Bobby is just three strokes over even four; 291 at St. Anne's, 285 at St. Andrews and 281 again at Hoylake. That scoring will stand the rub of time.

The flexibility of Jones' skill as a shotmaker was tremendously emphasized at Hoylake. When his woods refused to heave to the line he found success with his keen irons of success; when he was wide of the greens he recovered skillfully and when Calamity Jane acted capricious he conquered her by attacking the ball close to the pins.

Jones was not without his unenviable moments but two fine first rounds established him nicely and put the burden on the field that knew not when he would turn magician and was worried accordingly.

It was a complete round-up for the Americans with Leo Diegel and Macdonald Smith tied for second at 293. The veteran Scottish-American played two great rounds of 70-71 but the weight was too much for him, aching shoulders and Diegel had his erratic moments.

In winning Jones destroyed another record of which the British were quite proud. In five previous open championships played over the West Links Hoylake course, 361 was the lowest score ever returned and

CHAPTER 22 THE TRIUMPH OF FLIQUE

W H. Johns waited 20 years to kill Parados. Flique pondered.

"That, monsieur, is the big question," he resumed, spreading his hands. "Until that M. Johns died in my arms whispering to me in the tongue of his mother I could not have answered it. It was not much that he said, but enough.

"After those infamous ones, le Balafre, Ciceron Bec and Jules Lacote had robbed the Banque du Midi they separated. We of the police took behind. Was not I then an agent of the Marseilles Surete? Lacote had the money—a million francs. Perhaps they trusted him—perhaps it was the expediency. Who can tell?

"And now Destiny plays the hand. Destiny laughed when Lacote bought the phoenix, and again when M. Parados took it for himself, again when le Balafre and Bec departed from the Duc de Diable and Madame sent her writing to the Marseilles journals, and yet again when Lum Wee stole the phoenix from its master.

"Messieurs et mesdames, Lacote took the million francs to his room at the back of a tobacco vendor's shop. But his phoenix, which he had bought from a merchant of antiques, stood on a shelf in his room. The vendor of tobacco saw it.

"Now, my friends, that vendor of tobacco had read of the affair at the Banque du Midi. A merchant of antiques, one of the patrons of the bank, had been shot, and with his last breath he had told M. Anatole Flique that his assassin had bought a phoenix of jade from him the day before. You see?

"Destiny has laughed and the thief of that infamous Lacote is broken. And that vendor of tobacco—who is she but Monsieur Parados?—Monsieur, a man of vision, begins to spin his little reel.

"Monsieur approaches Lacote. That infamous one, who has a million francs in his mattress, must divide his—loot, is it?—with monsieur, the vendor of tobacco, who will secretly send to M. Flique an information that will dispose of le Balafre and Bec. Also, monsieur will take the phoenix. If Lacote declines, monsieur's information will dispose of him as well. What can that unhappy Lacote do? He yields.

"Very well. Monsieur's destiny brings him to California, and Lacote comes with him. He dare not stay in Marseilles—and monsieur prefers to have the eye on him. And now in this enchanted land monsieur blooms like the rose.

"But what of Lacote? "Monsieur has a million of dollars and soon he has two. He is a man of power and sinister reputation. He craves an empire, so he becomes le seigneur de San Lucas. And that gives the unhappy Lacote his—um—inspiration.

"He would live on San Lucas, he would bury himself from the world and impose on his old self a new personality. That old fort—it must have a custodian. Why not Jules Lacote, once the cleverest rascal of France?

"And so that daring Lacote comes to the island. But his fear of those little ones monsieur sent to le Duc Diable becomes an obsession—a specter that sits in his heart. They will escape—certainly! If they should find him his soul becomes dust.

"What shall it be, Ah, he will become Professor Herbert Johns, scholar and student of the eye of the jellyfish. Destiny could restrain its mirth no longer. The obsession of M. Johns—how you say it?—materialized: those little ones, le Balafre and Ciceron Bec, cast off their bonds. And then he takes courage. Only monsieur knows. Monsieur will not tell. And then Destiny laughs again. Madame sends her writing to the Marseilles journals. It is printed and Madame has her clippings, no doubt, and monsieur finds one of them—

"I intended that he should," Mrs. Parados said.

"That was my belief, madame," Flique said. "What does monsieur do with his clippings? Monsieur has a passion to nourish fear in the hearts of those around him. Madame Parados, M. Annerley, Lum Wee, Mlle. Jahries—they will tell me what monsieur did with his clipping. He presented it to M. le Professeur.

"Ah! It is the grand joke! That imbecile Lacote building his citadel of jellyfish eyes and lettuce for the rabbits, and he, Dan Parados, with a snap of the finger accomplishing its ruin!

"Why should he not tell those little ones, le Balafre and Ciceron Bec, if they come to San Lucas, that M. le Professeur, the authority on the eye of the jellyfish was their little playmate? Eh, what is that? They will avenge themselves on monsieur?—Let them try that monkey business. Nothing can harm monsieur. Does not the little green god live in his house? While that is there nothing can harm him!

"It was the citadel that infamous Lacote had built around himself, not the fort of San Lucas, that monsieur threatened to destroy. M. le Professeur thought he would and that was enough. Had not le Balafre and Ciceron Bec sat in his heart for 25 years? Monsieur is the only one who knows! It is an acid on his brain. And so he prepares his weapon and his alibi that no one shall break... no one but Anatole Flique. Afterwards, he will go away....

"It was crowded, monsieur's last hour, for Lum Wee and M. Annerley and Madame also would have a part of it. But what of that, I ask you? Has not Destiny a fondness for crowding her hours of reckoning? And so, mes amis, Destiny laughed again and monsieur's reel ceased to spin, for the thread was broken....

We were silent for a minute or two.

"Messieurs et mesdames," Flique continued, "it is not possible for a man to hide the light of himself behind a mask every minute of the hour. The mask will slip. So it was with M. le Professeur. He had a passion for all living things, yet he forgot the goldfish in his pool! He was a notable scientist, yet he assured me that he had not, not the French. And then, when I spoke to him in the French, understanding was in his eyes. That was negligent!

"M. Johns was on the top of the island yesterday and he saw those little ones, le Balafre and Ciceron Bec, with the glasses. Had he not been watching? The... had come for him and M. Johns made up his mind with a quickness. This evening he slipped away and found them... and Destiny laughed again. That is all.

Samuels shook the little man's hand.

"You've done a good job, Flique," he muttered huskily.

Flique bowed and twirled his mustache. "I am the principal agent of la Surete, monsieur," he said. "Does one find littleness in high places?"

Wedding presents should come afterwards, long afterwards, when people are more likely to need their brightening influence, Caroline says. I am inclined to agree with her, as I am with every thing Caroline says.

There is some excellent cutlery from the Annerleys and a little green god from Lum Wee. Mrs. Parados' gift already hangs in the library.

An enormous parcel arrived from Paris. As we tore the wrappings apart and lived through a tangle of packing material I don't know what we expected to find—anything. I imagine, except what we actually did find.

It is a full length portrait of a little stout man in elegant evening regalia, a carefully waxed mustache. His right hand is on his breast which is adorned with the decorations of many governments, and his pink face beams upon us and seems to draw us into his friendly embrace.

"Well, I don't know," Caroline said. She smiled at me and I knew I should agree to anything she suggested. "Let's hang it opposite Grandmother Brent once a week every year."

She was looking at me tenderly now. "After all, Allan, it was you who found me just in time, not M. Flique."

I saw no reason why I should not agree with her.

CHAMBER PREPARES POSTER STAMPS TO ADVERTISE STATE

"On Wisconsin" Is Keynote of Commercial Organization's Program

Madison—Over 4,500,000 poster stamps telling the facts, advantages, and opportunities of Wisconsin are to be placed in circulation on out going mail through the cooperation of the business and professional men as a part of the complete state wide expansion program of the Wisconsin State Chamber of Commerce. It was announced here today by R. S. Kingsley, president of the organization.

"The state chamber has a practical and ambitious program for 1930-11 and through using Wisconsin poster stamps as the motive power will carry on an aggressive program of state wide advertising and development calculated to add millions of new wealth annually to the state," Kingsley said.

"On Wisconsin" is the keynote of the organization's program. The state today produces more than three billion dollars in new wealth annually from agriculture, mining and manufacturing. The state chamber aims to conservatively and effectively tell Wisconsin's story to the world in close cooperation with the local chamber of commerce and trade organizations of the state with a view to bringing in more people and money, which mean greater prosperity.

HAVE THREE GOALS
Three goals in the "On Wisconsin" program have been set out. They are: "Millions, New Wealth Annually from Scenic Resources." "Millions, New Wealth Annually from Industry." "Millions, New Wealth Annually from Agriculture."

The first series of Wisconsin poster stamps are just off the press. They are printed in four colors with 10 different stamps on a page. Each stamp carries the wording "Find Out All the Facts—Write Our Chamber of Commerce." The object of this is to bring inquiries prompted by the stamps back to the city from which the stamps were mailed.

Copy on the stamps is as follows: "Wisconsin 1st in Quality and Quantity of Dairy Products." "Wisconsin Has the World's Largest and Finest Fur Farms." "Wisconsin Vacationland for Over 3,000,000 People Annually." "Wisconsin's World Renowned Mineral Springs—White Sulphur, Chippewa, Waubesa." "Wisconsin Excels in Cherries, Peas, Cranberries, Potatoes, Tobacco." "Visit Wisconsin's Indian Reservations—denominations, Lac du Flambeau, Stockbridge, Court de Oreilles, Red Cliff." "Wisconsin the State With 10,000 Lakes and 18 Million Acres of Forests."

"Wisconsin Offers Industry Low Cost Power, Abundant Water, Gas, Electricity—Investigate." "Wisconsin is Always Prosperous State—Lumbering, Manufacturing, Dairying, Recreation, Mining, Education." "Wisconsin Where 3 Million People Produce 3 Billion Income Annually." "Wisconsin 1st in U. S. in American Brick and Swiss Cheese Manufacturing." "Wisconsin 4th in U. S. in Fur and Pulp and Paper Manufacturing." "Come and Enjoy Wisconsin's Mighty Rivers, 10,000 Lakes and the Great Lakes." "Wisconsin One of America's Leaders in Educational Facilities and Opportunities." "Hunt and Fish in Wisconsin. Abundant Game Birds and Animals and 20 Species of Gamey Fish." "It Pays to Use Wisconsin's Nationally Advertised Products." "Tour Wisconsin and See the Early Trade Routes, Indian Mounds, Lakes, Ports, Missions." "Wisconsin, home of the 1928 Summer Whitehouse." "Wisconsin, a State Whose History Antedates the Revolution by 10 Years." "Wisconsin Where Diversified Industry Assures Constant Prosperity." "Investigate and Compare Wisconsin's Advantages in Agriculture, Industry, Recreation, Education."

PREPARE OTHERS
Additional series of stamps are being prepared and will be announced soon, it is said. The various poster stamps being issued in connection with the State Chamber's program will tell what Wisconsin was, wants, and how the state ranks and about special points of interest to the state visitor.

The poster stamps are bound in 25 page books and are given free with ad subscriptions to the state chamber at the rate of 25 pages of stamps for each $25.00 budget subscription. In this manner the organization accomplishes the two-fold purpose of enlisting the cooperation of a business people of the state in advertising Wisconsin to the world at the same time create its $150,000 cash budget to carry on this and other work.

Many 4-H Clubs Join Contest Sponsored By Post-Crescent And County Farm Group

Considerable interest is being shown in the contest conducted jointly by the Appleton Post-Crescent and the county agricultural department. It is indicated by the number of clubs which have announced they will take part in the competition.

The contest was announced last week. Each month for four months the Post-Crescent will award three cash prizes of $3, $2 and $1 to the clubs showing the most activities during the month. The June contest closes on July 10. One of the requirements is that club reporters must send reports to Mr. Sell after each meeting. The club reporter or secretary must submit a monthly summary of activities. Judging of the prize winners each month will be based on the activities and worthwhileness of the club's activities as well as on the reports which are received.

Gus Sell, county agent, and Miss Harriet Thompson, county home demonstration agent, with members of the Post-Crescent editorial staff, will be the judges each month.

All reports on the previous months activities must be in by the tenth of the month following. Promptness in sending in reports also on weekly meetings will count in the final judging. Completeness and neatness of reports and the variety and worth of the activities of the clubs all will count.

Last week four reports on club meetings were received. A good report was received from Miss Dorothy Sievert, reporter for the Happy Hearts 4-H club, on the prize winners which this group held at the home of Miss Helen Hamster, route 6, Appleton, last week. The club enjoyed a marshmallow roast which was followed by a demonstration of seam-making by two members Misses Ella Stein and Dorothy Sievert. These girls demonstrated and discussed the making of various kinds of seams. The girls also discussed their clothing projects. The next meeting of the club will take place at the home of Miss Evelyn Lide, route 4, Seymour, on July 18.

Members of the Happy Valley club are to be invited to a marshmallow and picnic roast by the members of the Pleasant Hill club, according to a report from Marvin Pribbenow, club reporter. This discussion was made at a meeting of the club last week at Hortonville. The meeting was held at the home of Arlin Schultz. The next meeting will be at the home of Walter Jacobson.

The club members of the Willing Workers club, town of Black Creek, sewed on pillow cases at a meeting last week at the home of the leader, Miss Freda Pichok. Miss Hildegard Pichok is the reporter of this club. This club has a single boy member who is making a garden as a project. His garden is in excellent shape, without a single weed.

Seven members attended and three missed the meeting of Golden Hill 4-H club at the school house, town of Maple Creek. Garment bags made by the members were added and the girls decided to make animal pillows as their next project. Miss Thompson will attend the next meeting on June 25. Miss Amelia Sarnis is leader of this group and Miss Rose Finkle is the club reporter.

AMBLER PLAYERS ENTERTAIN LIONS

Seven members of the Edith Ambler players, local stock company, furnished entertainment at the weekly luncheon of the Lions club at Hotel Conway, Monday afternoon. Musical selections, vocal solos and comedy sketches featured the entertainment. A dinner and business meeting preceded the entertainment.

An 8-year-old Arkansas City, Kans. youth is able to speak the languages of Hungary, Roumania, Spain, France and Germany in addition to Yiddish and English.

EXPECT HOOVER TO SIGN RIVERS AND HARBORS BILL SOON

Fox River Will Be Included in Survey to Be Made if Bill Is Signed

BY RUBY A. BLACK
Post-Crescent Washington Correspondent

Washington — President Hoover is expected to affix his signature to the rivers and harbors bill within a few days, thus authorizing the beginning of work on three Wisconsin harbors to cost $328,000, construction of a 9-foot channel in the Upper Mississippi, which will eventually cost $98,425,000, and surveys of 14 other Wisconsin waterways to see if further improvement is justified.

In addition to the Wisconsin projects, the $29,286,000 project for deepening the Great Lakes connecting channels to provide a 24-foot channel is a necessary part of the future project of providing an outlet to the Atlantic from Wisconsin by way of the St. Lawrence river.

An interesting subject in the bill is the provision authorizing a survey to determine whether or not a 9-foot canal should be cut across the state, by way of existing waterways, from Green Bay to Prairie du Chien, to connect Lake Michigan with the Mississippi river.

This survey will be made of Green Bay harbor, the Fox river and connecting waters, the Portage canal, and the Wisconsin river, with a view to providing a 9-foot barge canal. Rep. Florian Lampert of Oshkosh proposed this survey.

THREE PROJECTS

The three Wisconsin projects definitely authorized by the bill, in addition to the 9-foot channel in the Upper Mississippi, are:

Menominee harbor and river, in Wisconsin and Michigan, to provide for a depth of 20 feet from the bay to the upper end of the Marquette municipal wharf and for a turning basin 18 feet deep, at an estimated cost of $62,000, with $7,500 annually for maintenance.

Duluth-Superior harbor, in Minnesota and Wisconsin, to extend the channel in Howard's bay, with a depth of 20 feet, with widths of 300 feet to 185 feet, at an estimated cost of $35,000, with $500 additional annually for maintenance.

Ashland harbor, to provide for a channel 20 feet deep and 400 feet wide, with an entrance channel of the same dimensions, and for a basin 2 feet deep and about 4,800 feet long, at an estimated cost of $230,000, with $12,000 annually for maintenance.

While the 9-foot channel in the Mississippi from the Illinois river to St. Paul will eventually cost $98,425,000, only $7,500,000 is authorized by this bill.

Sen. John J. Blaine, who led the fight against diversion of water from Lake Michigan to provide a waterway by way of the Illinois river from Chicago to the Mississippi, feels that the provision in the bill as adopted will protect Wisconsin's rights.

Surveys of the following Wisconsin waterways with a view to future improvement are authorized by the bill:

Rock river, from Janesville to the water-power dam at Rockford, Ill., with a view to obtaining a channel 9 feet deep and of suitable width.

Black river, St. Croix river, Wisconsin and Minnesota, from Stillwater to its mouth; Duluth-Superior harbor; Siskiwit river; Ashland harbor; Milwaukee harbor; Oconto harbor; Two River harbor; Manitowish harbor; Green Bay harbor, with a view to widening the outer channel to 500 feet, removing shoals in the Fox river at the outlet of the East river, and providing a turning basin in this locality; Port Washington harbor.

GIVE ISLAND

The bill also authorizes the Secretary of War to transfer without charge to the City of Oshkosh the title of the United States to an island in Lake Winnebago for park purposes, provided he is convinced that the city has the right under the Wisconsin law to occupy and use the island for such purposes.

Wisconsin congressmen vigorously opposed the provision in the bill for federalizing the costly Erie-Oswego canals in New York State, as an entering wedge against the St. Lawrence waterway, but the Senate amended this provision so that the New York canals cannot be made into ship canals, without further authorization by Congress, and so that not as much money could be spent on them as the House had authorized.

GET NEW WAR BOOK AT LOCAL LIBRARY

Book Tells of Heroic and Spectacular Last Ditch-defense

"Verdun" by Marshal Petain, one of the few war books destined to endure, is one of the new books at the Appleton public library. Not only is the book an authoritative record of the most heroic and spectacular last-ditch defense of the greatest war in history, written by the man who conducted that defense to a successful conclusion, but it is also a literary gem of purest water, comparable in its restraint, lucidity and power to the "Commentaries of Caesar" and the "Memoirs of Grant."

"Francis Joseph I," the Downfall of an Empire by Karl Tschuppik is another book. Tschuppik's vigorous biography makes Francis Joseph of Austria live again and gives an understanding of his power and influence.

A third new book is "My Life" by Leon Trotsky. In exile on an obscure Turkish island Trotsky writes the story of his fantastic life—his country boyhood, his revolutionary passion, his friendship and work with Lenin, his seething participation in the brooding plots that transformed Czarist into Communist Russia, his leadership of the Soviet army, his oppositions to Stalin, and his banishment.

The book Georges Clemenceau, the great French war premier, had just completed when he dropped his pen a few hours before his death on Nov. 24, 1929, "Grandeur and Misery of Victory" also has been placed on the shelves recently.

The London Observer says, "It will be a part of the essential material of modern history." The book considers Clemenceau's relations with Foch and the latter's insubordination, the use of American forces, the mutilation of the Versailles treaty, an analysis of Germany and its leaders, pointed criticisms of Pershing, Wilson, Lloyd George, Haig, Poincare and others, and a discussion of the future of America and world politics.

CAN'T SIGN PAPERS LEGALLY ON SUNDAY

John E. Hantschel, county clerk, Monday received an opinion from Stanley A. Staud, district attorney, in which the latter held that signatures which were placed on nomination papers on Sunday were not legal. Mr. Hantschel sought the opinion because there was a question in the minds of some candidates as to whether they could secure names on their nomination papers on Sunday. The district attorney pointed out that this was legal business and could not be done on Sunday.

WOULD USE OLD U. S. LIGHTHOUSE FOR CHERRY CAMP

Fruit Growers Union Seeks Permission of Government to Use Buildings

BY RUBY A. BLACK
Post-Crescent Wash. Corrs.

Washington — The Stratford Bay Fruit Growers Union is seeking permission of the federal government to use the old Eagle Bluff lighthouse buildings for a cherry picking camp.

The union wired Rep. George J. Schneider of Appleton to get permission for this use of the grounds and the unused building, a fine old stone house with a barn and other buildings. The lighthouse bureau referred the request to E. H. Hubbard, lighthouse superintendent at Milwaukee and it is expected that the use of the property will be granted.

The lighthouse at Eagle Bluff is no longer tended, as the kind of light maintained there does not need constant attention. The Wisconsin Conservation commission has been seeking to have the property transferred to the Peninsula State Park, as the untended property has become somewhat dilapidated.

Rep. Schneider said today that he would seek to have the transfer made on proper terms unless an appropriation is made to build the Coast Guard station for Strawberry Passage, which runs between Eagle Bluff and Chambers Island. Construction of a Coast Guard station there has been authorized but no appropriation has ever been made for it.

An effort is being made to have the deficiency appropriation bill, passed by the House of Representatives Friday, amended in the Senate to provide the initial appropriation for this Coast Guard station.

If it becomes apparent that no appropriation can be obtained for the station, Rep. Schneider said he would take steps to arrange with the federal government for the state conservation commission to maintain the property, which covers about 12 acres, as a part of the state park, with due care taken of the lighthouse.
